

ANTI-ITALIAN RIOTS FLARE

TUNIS, Dec. 8.—(UP)—France rushed troops and mobile guard reinforcements here from Algeria today as disorderly demonstrations increased tension between the French and Italian populations in Tunisia.

The reinforcements were described as a precautionary measure to prevent the demonstrators—encouraged by plans for a great Arab demonstration against Italy—from getting out of hand. Two hundred French soldiers and 200 native cavalrymen guarded the Italian consulate. Troops were at all strategic points.

Police In Clash
French war veterans and Corsicans clashed with police as they were turned away from Italian business houses after mounted police had curbed a student demonstration against Italy.

The French resident general expressed regret to the Italian consul general that demonstrators had thrown blue and red ink—the French colors—on the Italian consulate.

The Italian consul general, Michele Silimbani, previously had warned that he would protest if the demonstrations did not cease and said he would give notice to Italian residents to put themselves "in a state of legitimate defense." There are more than 100,000 Frenchmen and more than 90,000 Italians in Tunisia.

Guard Stores
French officials stationed troops, police and mobile units in front of all Italian places of business. A spokesman for the resident general announced that French authorities had asked the natives to cancel their proposed demonstrations in defense of "French Tunisia."

Advices from the interior said that prominent Arabs and war veterans were organizing protests and holding meetings at which anti-Italian resolutions were approved. Some of them also expressed indignation that the local authorities, especially at Ferryville and Sfax, had sought to curb the demonstrations.

The student demonstration in Tunis this morning was marked by shouts of "Down With Fascism."

The demonstration lasted for an hour, after which police dispersed the students.

4th Demonstration
An hour later, 14 French bombers circled the city.

Today's demonstration was the fourth in five days.

The first outbreak occurred on Sunday, when windows of Italian offices were smashed. The second on Tuesday, when French and Italian students had fist fights and stoned one another. On Wednesday, railroad and highway workers threw ink on the walls of the Italian consulate.

This afternoon Arabs planned a demonstration in favor of "Tunisia for the French" in connection with the arrival of the Bey of Tunisia in the capital from the south.

Frontier Closed
Reports from the Tunisian-Libyan border said that the frontier zones were closed to all civilians and that Marshal Italo Balbo, governor general of Libya, had governed extensive troop movements.

Balbo, it was said, had heavily reinforced Naut, Sinauet and Gadam, Italy's westernmost outposts in Tripolitania opposite the French defense lines in the Grand desert.

Nearly 250,000 Italian and French troops, it was estimated, now face each other across the desert border, backed by a hundred miles on each side by the modern war equipment produced in European arsenals.

At the southernmost tip of Tunisia, the French have reinforced Fort Saint, just across the border from Gadam, while in the north, colonial troops and soldiers of the foreign legion fully man all strongholds of the new French "Maginot" line on Gabes, from where motor roads run to all sectors of the frontier, enabling swift and easy movement of troops, tanks and artillery.

Reorganization Bill Predicted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Indications that the administration is preparing a new government reorganization bill were seen today when President Roosevelt called Louis Brownlow, Mr. Gulick and Charles E. Merriam, his government reorganization advisors to the White House for a 2 p. m. conference.

The three advisors helped draft the reorganization bill killed in the last congress.

White House attaches believed the present discussions were of an exploratory nature, presumably a forerunner to actual drafting of a specific bill and agreement on provisions.

Love Laughs At Lie Detector

HE LOVES ME HE LOVES ME NOT

YES! NO!

Throw away your daisies, girls—the day of the "he loves me, he loves me not" stuff is out, replaced by science and heart beats. Doris Wilcox of Buffalo, N. Y., pictured in two kissing scenes, submits to a police lie detector test. Top, she gives her lips to her fiancé and the detector needle records an emphatic YES. Lower photo, Doris kisses John, just another guy, and down goes the detector graph lines. The answer is NO.

BARBECUE, CARNIVAL FEATURE OLSON'S INAUGURAL PROGRAM

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8. — (UP) — Something new and different for the inauguration of a governor will be written into California history by Gov. Elect Culbert L. Olson—a barbecue and carnival at the state fair grounds for all residents of the state.

Californians are no longer surprised at such unusual things as the $30-Every-Thursday pension, ski tournaments and rodeos in the Los Angeles coliseum, gigantic bridges and a world's fair island in San Francisco bay, religious and political fanatics, and "premiere" openings for open air markets. Even so, the Olson barbecue was definitely news because it was the first deviation from the traditional speeches and silk hat events that usually constitute inaugurations.

For Common People
It should be understood that Olson will be inaugurated before the legislature on Jan. 2, as per custom, and that the formal inaugural ball will be held Friday, Jan. 6. But Olson wanted to do something for the "common people" and got together with the California State Employees Association in sponsoring the barbecue as a good way to entertain a large crowd.

It is planned that crowded special trains and air travel will help swell the attendance to 125,000. A free barbecue dinner will be served, for which 400 beehives have already been donated. Two "name" speakers will be featured.

GERMANY BLAMES JEWRY FOR BRITISH STAND ON COLONIES

BERLIN, Dec. 8. — (UP) — Germany's first aircraft carrier was launched at Kiel today, and christened Graf Zeppelin, as Nazis blamed "Machinations of International Jewry" for a British government declaration, backed up by a parliamentary vote, against surrender of colonies to Germany.

The ship was christened by Countess Brandenstein — Zeppelin, only daughter of the late Count Zeppelin who developed the Zeppelin dirigible. Adolf Hitler, army and navy leaders, and high Nazi officials attended the christening in addition to the thousands of ordinary spectators.

Heavily Armed
Displacing 12,250 tons, carrying 40 planes, the ship will bristle with anti-aircraft guns and will have a main battery of 16 six-inch guns so that it will be effective as a cruiser.

W. R. Hilyard Called by Death
William R. Hilyard, 31, of 1328 Durant street, died at his home today. A retired rancher, Mr. Hilyard had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 33 years. He is survived by the widow, Mrs. Helen Hilyard, two daughters, Mrs. Monta Tempelton, and Miss Mary Hilyard; three grandchildren; one great-grandchild; and one sister, Mrs. Vada Grover, of Drizel, Mo.

MURDER PLOT IS REVEALED

RENNSELAER, Ind., Dec. 8.—(UP)—State police announced today that Ralph Myers, 45 a World War veteran and a former Peoria, Ill., bank employee, had confessed a plot to kill his 73-year-old father and inherit a $75,000 estate.

The father, George M. Myers, wealthy retired farmer and former owner of a country telephone exchange, was instrumental in saving his own life. He learned of the plot and reported it to State Police. Myers arranged a trap. They posed as killers and bargained with the son during a ride over lonely country roads Tuesday night, finally promising to do the job for $750.

Only Son
Two other officers seized the younger Myers last night as he passed a check for the amount to an unidentified intermediary at a downtown department store. He is an only son and himself the father of a son, 19, a freshman at an Indiana university. He worked for many years at a Peoria, Ill., bank.

"My father has been married four times," he told police. "Two of his wives died, he divorced the third and has a divorce from the fourth coming up for hearing next week."

"He has been giving his money to charity and churches. He cut off my allowance but has sent several boys through college. I wanted to get the estate before he had it all spent."

Reveals Plan
Police said he met the go-between, whose name they declined to reveal, at a party Saturday night. He told the man he would give him $1000 if he would do the job or find someone else to do it, they said. The man told the elder

FATAL STABBING IS ADMITTED BY YOUTH

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 8. — (UP)—Rodney Grieg, 21, confessed today that he stabbed blonde Leona Vught, 19, to death with a hunting knife on a lonely "Lover's Lane."

He said he stabbed her "for no reason at all." Then he smoked six cigarettes and watched her die. After a chance meeting with the girl on a downtown street, Grieg said they drove to an isolated parking spot. The girl felt "flow" and talked of committing suicide, Grieg said.

"No Reason"
He said he handed her his hunting knife.

"She made a few playful passes at me with it," he said. "I took it away from her. We sat and talked for several minutes and I was toying with the knife when all of a sudden for no reason at all I plunged it into her breast. "I smoked six cigarettes while she died."

Police believed the young runaway clerk killed the former California coed because she resisted his advances when they drove to a "Lover's Lane" gully at the end of 16th avenue in Oakland.

It was first believed that robbery was the motive.

The fact that the girl's gold heart-shaped locket and other pieces of jewelry were missing when the body was found strengthened this theory.

But Grieg, police said, admitted taking the jewelry to delay identification of the body. The jewelry was found in his home when police arrested him.

The hunting knife used in the slaying was found in its sheath in his car.

Italy Plans Huge Arms Program

ROME, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The government has authorized additional military appropriations totaling 1,224,722,000 lire ($44,451,047) under the 1938-1939 budget, a royal decree disclosed today.

Presumably the troublesome European situation, now complicated because of renewed bad feeling between Italy and France, was responsible for the appropriations.

The largest amount, $39,654,000, went to the navy. The army obtained 250,000,000 lire and the air force 150,000,000 lire.

The navy appropriation provides for new construction, and repair of old ships, to a total of 370,000,000 lire.

Solidarity Wins Favor

LIMA, Peru, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Latin American delegates to the eighth Pan-American conference began falling in line today with a program calling for continental solidarity against foreign aggression. With all pre-conference developments indicating an unwritten approval of President Roosevelt's program for unity against foreign aggression, the Dominican delegation announced abandonment of a project for forming an American League of Nations. The project had been vigorously opposed by the larger nations and threatened to cause bitter controversy.

Favor Solidarity
The announcement said the plan which was also supported by Colombia, had been dropped in the interests of continental solidarity.

The Dominican delegation will support any move to "consolidate fraternity and solidarity among the nations of the new world," the announcement said. It was generally believed that U. S.

DALADIER FACED BY PARLIAMENT REVOLT

PARIS, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Premier Edouard Daladier was warned by powerful French conservatives in parliament today that he must "choose between us and the Socialists and Communists."

The aggressive attitude of the right wing parties in the chamber of deputies was emphasized as parliament opened by a demand by Deputy Rene Donange, Nationalist, that the government dissolve the Communist party and take action against the General Federation of Labor for sponsoring the unsuccessful general strike last Wednesday.

"Life or Death"
Facing a life or death debate on domestic and foreign policy, the premier was counting on his stern action in breaking the French general strike and his newly signed anti-war accord with Germany to maintain his government in power.

The popular front of Socialists, Communists and Daladier's own Radical-Socialist party—which brought the present government into power—had been broken and there were 155 Socialists and 73 Communists ready to vote against the cabinet. On the other hand, Daladier's policies have picked up their votes from the center and right.

O. U. Miracle Sues For $20,099

O. U. Miracle's suit against the Sunset Beach Sanitary district, in which Miracle asks $20,099.62 as a balance alleged to be due on his contract to lay sewage pipe in the sanitary district in 1936, reached the defense stage today in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, as Miracle completed his evidence.

Miracle was paid $41,523.72 on the contract and the sanitary district was said to have been ready to pay him another $4977.68 if he would waive any further claim. His claim for the $20,099.62 additional was rejected by the district board.

District Attorney W. F. Menton is defending the sanitary district at the trial.

Woman Kills Son, Suicides

SAN JOSE, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—A broken home and the prospect of a lonely Christmas today led Mrs. Peggy Masco, 38, to kill her 14-year-old son, Dale, and take her own life.

The mother and son were found in their apartment this morning. Dale, a high school student, lay in bed, shot through the head. Nearby, on the floor between the twin beds, lay his mother, who had apparently shot herself through the head with a .38 caliber revolver.

Two suicide notes told a story of Mrs. Masco's despondency over the fact that her husband, Walker Masco, was in New Orleans and would not be home for the holidays. They also indicated that the son was aware of the suicide plan and had agreed to it.

10 Are Ordained To Priesthood

ROME, Dec. 8. (UP) — Bishop Ralph Hayes, rector of the American college, ordained 10 students to the priesthood today. Among the students were John Connelly, San Francisco, Anthony Brouwers and William Trower, Los Angeles.

The festival occurred in the college chapel in connection with the Feast of the Immaculate Conception.

Knife Wielder

Mrs. Evelyn Tynes, 26, mother of four children, held at San Fernando, Calif., is accused of the fatal stabbing of Needham A. Napier. Tynes, her husband, who jumped between his wife and Napier during an argument, also was stabbed, perhaps fatally.

CHINESE IN DRIVE TO CAPTURE CANTON

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Chinese military officials today announced the opening of a general offensive in Kwangtung province in an effort to recapture the great Canton commercial area of South China from the Japanese.

The Chinese dispatches said that about 600,000 Chinese troops were participating in the long awaited offensive. Famous Cantonese generals, including Tsal Ting-Kai, Chang Ak-Wei and Chiang Ku-Angai, were leading the Chinese armies.

City Burned
Japanese captured Canton in a powerful ten-day campaign opened by marines landed on the coast north of Hong Kong. A great part of the Chinese city, principal trade center for British and American interests, was burned by retreating Chinese armies.

Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek was severely criticized by some Cantonese leaders on the grounds that he failed to provide proper defenses for Canton, which had sent some of its crack troops northward to aid the defense of Hankow.

After the capture of Canton, Japanese sought to spread into the interior but were repulsed in many places. More recently they have been reported spreading out along the coast in the direction of French Indo-China.

Western State Engineers Meet

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Gov. R. C. Stanford of Arizona today welcomed delegates to the 11th annual convention of the Association of Western State Engineers, opening a week of conferences on problems of the Colorado river basin.

Eleven western states, including Colorado river commissioners, were represented and development of the Colorado basin was to be the chief topic of discussion.

Following committee meetings this morning, the convention was to hear a discussion by Edward Hyatt, California state engineer, of "Authority of states to control design and construction of federal projects." Charles E. Strickland, Oregon state engineer, was to lead an open discussion.

"Passion Killing" Case Near End

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 8. (UP)—Final arguments will be presented today in the trial of Glen E. Jones, 23, on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of Edith Gilliland, 23, last Oct. 4.

Defense Attorneys Frank Curran and Ralph Moradian closed their case yesterday with the introduction of testimony to show that Miss Gilliland was the victim of a "passion killing."

Jones, his eyes bloodshot from frequent sobbing, was the chief witness in his own defense. He freely admitted taking a .38 caliber revolver from his car and going up to his sweetheart's apartment, where he had seen another man that night they were to elope to Reno.

"But I don't remember shooting her," he cried.

Douglas Co. Hit By NLRB

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered the Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc., Santa Monica, Calif., to reinstate 32 sitdown strikers with back pay, including 11 convicted in California state courts for "conspiracy to commit forcible detainer."

Back pay was ordered for another 13 workers who were reinstated or took other jobs since the United Automobile Workers Union called the strike in February, 1937.

Decision Upheld
The board's order reaffirmed an earlier decision which was withdrawn last spring to correct possible procedural errors after the supreme court's Kansas City stockyards decision.

Douglas was directed to cease discouraging membership in the UAW, a Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliate, and to refrain from recognizing the Aircraft Workers Union, Inc., which

DOCTOR TESTIFIES AT CALHOUN TRIAL

Charles Calhoun had no heart ailment that would cause him to become unconscious, Dr. Milo K. Tedstrom, of Santa Ana, testified today in Judge James L. Allen's court, where the state was presenting its closing rebuttal evidence, to offset Calhoun's defense that he was unconscious when he killed Clyde Dillinger at Midway City last July.

The defense rested its case late yesterday and Assistant District Attorney Preston Turner started the prosecution's rebuttal. It was expected that this would be completed today, and that attorneys would start summing the case before the jury before adjournment.

It was believed likely that the case would reopen the jury Monday since sessions of the trial are not held on Friday or Saturday.

Dr. Tedstrom, under cross-examination today by Defense Attorney N. D. Meyer, admitted that certain kinds of heart trouble will cause unconsciousness. He also discussed epileptic seizures, which he said caused a feigned unconsciousness, as distinguished from true unconsciousness.

Accused Woman Plans Defense

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Counsel for Mrs. Dorothy Boehlhauff, 29, said today the Chula Vista housewife will call upon medical science to defend her against the charge of beating to death her six-year-old foster son, Leonard.

A complaint issued by the state charged Mrs. Boehlhauff with the murder of the child who died Monday in Mercy hospital from what Autopsy Surgeon T. E. Mooney said was "a hemorrhage of the brain and severe bodily bruises evidently received during a beating."

Attorney Harry Sweet, retained by Mrs. Boehlhauff, said the defense will attempt to show that Leonard died of injuries received when he fell and hit his head against a bathtub.

Traffic Death Decline Reported

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—Eight large California cities have a combined decrease of 39 traffic deaths during the first 11 months of 1938 over the corresponding period of 1937, it was revealed today by Chief E. Raymond Catol of the California highway patrol.

With figures complete to Nov. 27, the cities had a total of 655 deaths, as compared to 703 for 1937. Berkeley had the best record, with 17 deaths last year and only six for 1938. Glendale had an opposite trend with 9 deaths last year and 22 for 1938, representing a gain of 44 per cent. San Jose was the only city with a gain, showing 4 for 1937 and 10 for 1938.

Faces Trial In S. D. Murder Case

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Dec. 8.—(UP)—District Attorney James B. Abbey prepared today to prosecute Paul Edwin Jackson, 36, Glendale, for the slaying of Charles Sabol, 25-year-old sailor, after a coroner's jury found Jackson "criminally responsible" for Sabol's death.

Sabol was shot and killed on a downtown San Diego street early Sunday morning by a civilian who fled.

MEN PLUNGE INTO OCEAN

Two men were saved from death in the ocean off Dana Point this morning, when their fishing boat caught fire. They were rescued by C. W. Packard, operator of the fishing boat "Peer."

H. B. Hale, of 321 West Fourth street, and Carl Swanson, of 214 Pacific avenue, both of Long Beach, were two and a half miles off Dana Point when their craft caught fire. Unable to extinguish the blaze, they signalled for help, Packard answering their call.

Earlier reports were to the effect that the boat had exploded and that there were no survivors. The Coast Guard sent a cutter from San Pedro and a plane from San Diego when notified by Harbor-master Thomas Bouchey of Newport harbor of the fire. Bouchey had been notified by Ross Greeley, of Doheny Park.

Investigation by Bouchey, his assistant, David Gogerty and Steve Smith of Balboa revealed that Hale and Swanson had been picked up by Packard. The boat was completely destroyed by flames.

The accident was the second to a fishing boat at Dana Point in as many days, the "White Cap" sinking Tuesday after springing a leak. Kenny Murdock, who was piloting the craft, was able to save part of the boat's equipment when another fishing boat pulled up alongside.

DUCE SENDS TROOPS TO AID REBEL DRIVE

TOULOUSE, France, Dec. 8. (UP)—Italy is massing troops in the Pyrenees frontier region of Spain, reports reaching here today said.

It was believed here that the movement presages a new major drive by the insurgents, with Italian aid in a final effort to overwhelm the Loyalists.

Expect Rebel Drive
A Barcelona dispatch said the commissar general of the Loyalist army had ordered all commissars awaiting assignment to report immediately and urgently to headquarters, indicating the government's expectation of a Nationalist offensive.

The main Italian troops in Spain were being concentrated south of Logrono, which is beyond the Ebro river and more than 100 miles from the French frontier. The positions of the Italians indicated that they would be in a position to take an important role in the expected thrust toward either Madrid or Catalonia.

The Italian concentration in the north began Nov. 22. Travelers able to reach France despite the closing of the frontier said strong contingents of Italian motorized troops, artillery and tanks are quartered in Rioja province, with 10,000 Italian troops quartered at the town of Logrono and others elsewhere in the north.

UNCONSCIOUS 4 WEEKS

Reginald Yorba, 33, injured November 12 when his car collided with a Santa Fe train in San Juan Capistrano, is still unconscious at Orange county hospital and is in serious condition today.

Yorba was transferred from Santa Ana Valley hospital to the county hospital yesterday. Two minor vehicle accidents in Santa Ana were reported yesterday. William Thompson, Long Beach, asserted in a report to police that a car driven by George Newton, 925 French street, struck his truck yesterday afternoon at Poinsettia and Stafford.

MAN GETS JAIL TERM IN FRAUD

Carroll Gustave Peck, 32-year-old native of Connecticut, who assertedly has practiced a "union dues" racket for the past year in Southern California, was sentenced yesterday by City Judge J. G. Mitchell to serve 180 days in county jail on a vagrancy conviction.

Police Chief Floyd W. Howard said he obtained a confession from Peck that Peck had fleeced many truck and bus drivers by promising them jobs and collecting "union dues" from them, then disappearing.

"I have been doing things I'm ashamed of," Peck told Judge Mitchell.

Peck was arrested at the Motor Transit bus depot yesterday when Bus Driver John Hill recognized him and called police. Hill told police he was acquainted with one of Peck's victims from whom Peck collected $20 as "union dues" three weeks ago. Peck took the money from the victim's aunt who was riding on the bus three weeks ago, according to testimony.

"I'll have a job for your nephew on one of my fleet of trucks," Peck purportedly told the woman in Hill's presence. The alert Hill recognized Peck yesterday morning, Peck will be prosecuted in Long Beach after serving the vagrancy sentence here.

PATTERSON FUNERAL IS HELD YESTERDAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Hattie Bell Patterson, a resident of Santa Ana for the past 11 years, were held yesterday at Brown and Wagner Memorial chapel with the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial church, officiating.

Mrs. Patterson was a native of Washington. At an early age she moved with her parents to California and later to Texas. In 1884 she married James H. Patterson and to the union was born seven children. One daughter, Mrs. Bertha Longbotham, died some years ago.

Survivors Listed
Mrs. Patterson is survived by the husband, four sons, E. B. Patterson of Midland, Texas, J. H. Patterson Jr. of Santa Ana, Herbert Patterson, Fullerton and Grafton Patterson, Santa Ana; two daughters, Mrs. Lola Sanders, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Grace Champion, Madera, Calif.

At the age of 17 Mrs. Patterson joined the Methodist church and had been an active and faithful worker until the time of her death. Upon her arrival in Santa

OLSON CALLS ON CITIZENS TO AID IN SOLUTION OF PROBLEMS

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—California citizens were called upon today by Gov. Elect Culbert L. Olson to cooperate in finding the solution to "distressing problems of mounting taxation and unemployment."

Olson, speaking by radio to Democratic "victory" parties throughout the state, declared a probable deficit of $42,500,000 would face the new administration and that an emergency appropriation in January of $20,000,000 would be required to provide unemployment relief until June, 1939, for approximately 200,000 persons in the state.

The new governor pointed out the budget for the next biennium would exceed by $35,000,000 to $40,000,000 the revenues anticipated under existing laws, even after disallowing tens of millions in requests for capital outlay and added services for state institutions, colleges and hospitals.

Olson estimated the total budget will greatly exceed half a billion dollars.

Olson issued a warning to job-seeking Democrats when he said a strict maintenance of existing principles of our party platform and it will be disappointing to me as to many of our sincere, outstanding and competent Democratic leaders in all parts of the state that they cannot all be called into state service, for there are only a few places to be filled by appointment.

He referred indirectly to his previously announced plan of instituting help-cooperatives when he said careful planning would attempt to provide work for unemployed employables "able and willing to work in useful and productive labor for their own sustenance on a decent American standard of living."

FIRE RAVAGES HOUSE
Started from unknown origin, a fire gutted an unoccupied house on King street near Fifth street at 8:14 p.m. yesterday, according to report of Fire Chief John Luxembourg. The damage was estimated at approximately $100. The house belongs to Mrs. William Tibbitts, 512 West Sixth street.

TO REPORT TO FDR
CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 8.—(UP)—U. S. Ambassador Nelson Johnson will depart Monday for Washington to report to President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull on the China situation.

Ana she joined the Spurgeon Memorial church.

Funeral services for the rites yesterday were: Dawson Burks, Laguna Beach; Thomas Morris, Tustin; Claude Grant, Santa Ana; Grafton Patterson, Santa Ana; two daughters, Mrs. Lola Sanders, Santa Ana, and Mrs. Grace Champion, Madera, Calif.

Mrs. Dolores Carlson sang a group of musical selections appropriate for the occasion. Todd McClelland, who was present at Mrs. Patterson's wedding, was one of the mourners at the services. Burial was made at Westminster Memorial park cemetery.

WOMAN, 2 MEN FOUND GUILTY

Charged with assault and battery upon the person of R. M. Griego, 1128 West Second street, during a family row, three persons were found guilty yesterday and sentenced by Justice Kenneth Morris in Santa Ana Justice court.

Griego alleged in statements to police that he actually was forcibly taken from his home by his ex-daughter-in-law, Josephine Griego; her brother, Tony Cano, and Cano's friend, Gilbert Garcia, and beaten.

Receives Probation
Mrs. Griego was sentenced to six months in county jail, the sentence being suspended for a two-year probationary period. Cano got the same sentence and was fined $15 in addition while Garcia was ordered to return to his home in Los Angeles and stay out of Orange county for one year.

Mrs. Griego, the ex-daughter-in-law, alleged in testimony, that her father-in-law became familiar and when she screamed her brother and Garcia came to her assistance and struck Griego.

Jumps From Car
They denied forcing Griego from his home, stating he went with them in Garcia's car voluntarily. "I thought they were 'taking me for a ride,'" Griego said, "and I jumped from the car. During the melee, Griego bit Mrs. Griego's finger, he declared.

In the same court, a year ago, Griego was a defendant charged with pulling a switch of the Santa Fe railroad. A jury convicted him.

NLRB Ruling Hits Packing Concern

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The National Labor Relations Board today overruled contentions of 26 lettuce packing concerns in the Salt River Valley district near Phoenix, Ariz., that its shed workers were "agricultural laborers."

At the same time the board ordered collective bargaining elections within 15 days among 1300 employees of the companies.

Employees in each company will vote separately on the question of whether they wish representation by the Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Workers local of the United Cannery, Agricultural, Packing and Allied Workers of America, a Congress of Industrial Organizations affiliate. Receivers, truckers, trimmers, packers, crate liners, ice men, to ladders and ear loaders will be polled.

$125,000 SUIT PLEA PLANNED

Plans for the appeal to the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals of the $125,000 damage suit of Dr. and Mrs. Loman C. Adams, of Santa Ana, against Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe railroad, following ruling of Federal Judge Jeremiah Neterer of Seattle, of "non-suit" yesterday were being made today by Attorney Otto A. Jacobs, counsel for the plaintiffs.

Yesterday in Federal Court in Los Angeles, Judge Neterer held that Dr. Adams was guilty of "contributory negligence" in failing to see a Santa Fe train on the crossing on 101 Highway below Tustin on October 17, 1936.

Killed at Crossing
The accident occurred at the same crossing where James Vernon Cheyne, 25, Santa Ana salesman, met death last Friday evening, when a truck he was driving collided with the caboose of a Santa Fe freight train.

In the complaint heard yesterday Dr. Adams charged that he had been injured to the extent of $25,000 and Mrs. Adams $100,000.

Before the case reached the jury, Judge Neterer ruled a non-suit and after making his ruling suggested to Attorney Jacobs that the ruling be taken to the appellate court.

The action was dismissed from court on the grounds that the plaintiffs had failed to establish a case. In a suit for damages of this type any negligence on the part of the plaintiff or plaintiffs is sufficient grounds for the ruling of non-suit, Judge Neterer held.

P. T. A. MEETING POSTPONED
Conflicting Christmas activity has caused the postponement of the December meeting of the Willard Parent Teacher association meeting, according to an announcement today by Mrs. W. O. Mendenhall, president.

Museum Experts Highly Laud Local Collections

Arthur Woodward, curator of history, Los Angeles museum, and a recognized authority on Spanish history and Indian beads, visited the Bowers Memorial Museum yesterday and assisted in the classification of an exhibit of Indian beads found by W. B. Murbarger in El Durado county, and loaned to the Museum. Woodward accompanied Olaf T. Hagen, associate research technician, Region No. 4, National Park Service, San Francisco.

Hagen is responsible for the furnishing of the Mission La Purisima, recently restored, which had been made a state park and museum. It is impossible to find authentic materials of early Spanish days, with which to fill the La Purisima Museum, so authentic pieces are to be reproduced, it was said. Because the Bowers Memorial Museum is said to have the finest Spanish materials obtainable, Hagen hopes to use them as models from which the copies will be made.

He stated that he was amazed that so young and small a Museum could boast of such fine material.

police news

Gus Zavaia, 21, Placentia, was jailed here last night by Officer Earl Rhea of Placentia on charges of being drunk and disturbing the peace.

Charged with failure to support his unborn child, Antonio Martinez, 31, El Modena, was jailed here yesterday afternoon by Constable George Bartley of Orange. Orange police last night jailed William Buchanan, 32, transient, on a vagrancy charge.

Edgar Kauffman, Los Angeles, and Joseph Carver, Newport Beach, were fined $5 and $6, respectively, for speeding when their cases came to attention of City Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday.

MOONEY SIGHTS FREEDOM CALL

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Thomas J. Mooney, the one-time "radical" labor leader, celebrated his "last" birthday in prison today.

It was his 23rd inside prison walls since his conviction for the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombing in 1916 which claimed 10 lives.

Expect Release
But it will be the last he spends as a convict, his friends and supporters say. They expect his release on a pardon shortly after Governor-Elect Culbert Olson takes office the first of the year.

Fifty-six years old today and grown grey in prison servitude, Mooney believes he will at last step out of prison a free man again. Presumably because of his expected release, there was no extensive celebration planned for today. Telegrams of congratulation arrived from labor leaders and liberals.

On other birthdays, the telegrams have pledged support in continuing the fight for Mooney's freedom and that of Warren K. Billings, who was convicted with him.

Today they called attention to the fact that both apparently are headed for freedom because of what Mooney said was a "mandate of the people" in electing Olson to office.

From all indications it appears presently that Mooney and his supporters will not be disappointed. Olson has indicated his sympathy toward labor and toward Mooney.

REALTORS TO HEAR SMITH
Dean T. Smith, executive of the Southern California Telephone company, of Los Angeles, will be the speaker at the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Realty board, according to Marie J. Gothard, secretary. The board will meet at noon at the Rossmore cafe.

QUESTION L. A. PAIR

Investigating a report that a woman and boy were selling lace in Santa Ana yesterday, Police Matron Bertha Anderson and Officer Tom Kinney found Jennie Williamson, 38, of Los Angeles, and John Williamson, 17, Los Angeles. The youth had five cheap coats with him. The two and John Williamson were questioned, then released. Lieutenant J. L. Marshall of Los Angeles said he would question the trio further regarding recent reports that Los Angeles residents had been fleeced by persons who had been selling lace and clothing.

Hoboes Blamed In Honey Thefts

Hoboes are believed responsible for repeated thefts of honey from the A. A. McDougal apiary on West 17th street at the Santa Ana River, according to investigation of Deputy Sheriff R. R. Lutes and Vern Mohn yesterday. McDougal, resident of 1427 South Ross, declared several hives were pushed over when the honey was stolen. He said the thefts had been repeated several times.

ONLY THREE "BOYS IN BLUE" TO ATTEND LOCAL CHRISTMAS FETE

Only three of the remaining "Boys in Blue" who fought for the Union in the Civil War will be present at the annual Christmas dinner given by the Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War tomorrow night at the M. W. A. hall.

Honored guests on the occasion will be Commander George D. Campbell, of Company M, Second Wisconsin Cavalry; John McDonald, of Company B, Second Missouri Light Artillery; and Bernice Wood. Dinners will be sent to the homes of the veterans who are unable to attend the affair.

Commander Perry Groat, of the "Sons" will be assisted by W. L. Davis, C. E. Brayton, Roy N. Pollock, President Ella Smith, of the "Daughters," will be assisted by Rowena Grout and Beren Baker. All members are expected to be present.

Santa Ana Camp No. 12 will have its regular business meeting in the evening, following the dinner. Department Inspector Frank L. Cleveland of Los Angeles, will inspect the camp.

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk—because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your ticket is a dish of crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Minister Speaks At P.T.A. Meeting

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 8.—Dr. Graham Hunter, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Fullerton, spoke on the topic of "Spiritual Education" at the Westminster P.T.A. meeting, being introduced by the Rev. George N. Greer, local Presbyterian pastor, who is chairman of spiritual education for the P.T.A. Five orchestra numbers were presented by a group from the school directed by Paul Beatty. Plans for the Christmas program for Westminster school were told by Superintendent Orion Bebermeyer. The program will be presented the evening of Dec. 16, the closing day of school for the holidays, and will be held in Westminster park if weather condition permits, otherwise in the school auditorium.

JUDGE'S ORDER IS PRELIMINARY

A preliminary injunction against Joe F. Betschart, owner of the Talbert Meat company, to restrain him from slaughtering livestock without a permit from the state department of agriculture, was formally signed and filed today by Superior Judge James L. Allen.

State Agricultural Director A. A. Brock's petition for an injunction against Betschart, who had openly notified the county supervisors that he intended to defy Brock and operate his slaughterhouse without a state permit, has not yet been set for hearing, but argument was heard by Judge Allen last Friday on the matter of a preliminary injunction, and Betschart's attorney, A. P. Nelson, stipulated that such an injunction should be issued, to remain in effect until the issue should come to trial.

The state has refused a permit to Betschart on the ground that his slaughterhouse does not comply with state sanitary regulations. Betschart contends that his establishment is clean and sanitary and that the state requirements are unnecessary and would force him out of business. He charged that the regulations were aimed at the small packers, for the benefit of the big packing interests.

Betschart, in a letter to the supervisors, announced that, despite lack of a state permit, he planned to conduct a slaughter at his plant on a certain date last month, and invited county inspection. The state department of agriculture, however, obtained a court restraining order on the preceding day, and halted his proposed move.

Gospel Team In Church Program

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 8.—Dr. R. E. Nida, program chairman for the Alamitos brotherhood, presented members of the gospel team of the Long Beach Church of the Brethren at the meeting of the brotherhood held in the Alamitos Friends church Tuesday evening.

Taking part in the speaking program were Sam Doney, Malard Murdock, Fred Roy and Bill Coplin. Violin, harmonica and guitar numbers were played by Wayne Roy, accompanied at the piano by his sister, Helen Roy, who also entertained with piano and harmonica selections.

Frank Everett, president of the brotherhood, announced that members of the Santa Ana Toastmasters club would speak at the meeting, January 3. Hostesses at the dinner preceding the meeting were Mrs. E. E. Nichols, Mrs. W. O. Broady and Mrs. John Guptill.

Auxiliary Group To Meet Tuesday

COSTA MESA, Dec. 8.—Plans for the American Legion auxiliary county council meeting scheduled for Tuesday at the Costa Mesa American Legion hall were made at an executive board meeting of the local group yesterday at the home of Mrs. Goss Grable, 264 Broadway.

Tona Sandon, of Santa Ana, county council president, has announced that speakers from the Orange County Tuberculosis association will attend. An invitation to attend has been extended Gaylord Fanning, of Laguna Beach, new American Legion county council commander.

A food sale was announced for December 17 under the direction of Cora Bomboy. A covered dish dinner to be held in conjunction with the Costa Mesa Legion post was scheduled for the evening of December 19 at the hall.

Anna Cramer and Geraldine Grupe were guests at a dinner Tuesday at the home of Vivian Nicodemus of Brea.

Pensioner Talks

Gen. Dr. Francis E. Townsend, father of the pension plan movement in the nation and chief organizer for the Townsend party of California, waves a greeting to residents of Santa Ana and Orange county as it is announced that he will speak at 7 p.m. at the Julia Lathrop auditorium, 1200 South Main street. Dr. Townsend will be accompanied by Glenn Wilson, state chairman of the Townsend party. Special entertainment has been arranged by the local committee in charge and the public is invited to attend the affair.

Members Added At Club Meeting

MIDWAY CITY, Dec. 8.—Several new members were admitted to the Midway City Toastmistress club at Tuesday's luncheon meeting held at a Huntington Beach cafe and 21 were present for the meeting over which Mrs. N. A. Nelson served as toastmistress and Mrs. J. A. Houlihan as general critic.

The four speakers were Mrs. Dale Braybrooks, whose topic was "Midway Island"; Mrs. H. E. Von Rohr, "Wedgewood"; Mrs. Leone Kelley, "The Flowers of Hawaii"; and Mrs. R. O. Pritchard, "Fear." Critics were Mrs. Fred Foley, Mrs. R. P. Meairs, Mrs. Clifford Jones and Mrs. Harold Spafford.

Four members took the table topics which came under the general head of "Christmas." Mrs. Robert Hazard being leader. Mrs. Mae Finley took the subject of "The Red Cross"; Mrs. Jessie Suess, "A Village Christmas"; Mrs. Willabelle Foley, "Christmas Carols"; and Mrs. Alvaretta Campbell, "Christmas Customs."

New members included Mrs. O. A. Mosier, president of the Huntington Beach Woman's club; Mrs. Douglas Hough, of Huntington Beach; Mrs. Eber Flaws, Liberty Park; Mrs. Harry Kingsbury, Midway City; and Mrs. George Garrett, Westminster, a prospective member.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Grace Collins of Los Angeles, spent Tuesday with her mother, Mrs. Lillie Shaffer Moore.

Miss Sylvia Mitchell, of Bakersfield, has been a guest in the J. W. McIntosh home and Miss Victoria McIntosh of Bible Institute, Los Angeles, also has been at home for a few days.

CHARGES FILED IN DEATH CRASH

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Dec. 8. (UP)—Mrs. W. B. McKeeth of Santa Ana was charged with negligent homicide today in the traffic death of a motorcycle officer.

She is alleged to have driven through a red signal Nov. 27 and run into Officer C. L. Burtner at Eighth and Main streets. It was claimed the officer had the right-of-way.

Returns Open Verdict The complaint was issued yesterday despite the action of a coroner's jury in returning an open verdict fixing no blame for the policeman's death. Mrs. McKeeth was called to the stand but on her attorney's advice refused to testify.

She will be given a preliminary hearing before Justice R. A. Moore on Dec. 29 at 10 a. m.

Officers Chosen By Relief Corps

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Estella Arnett was elected president of the William A. Smalley Woman's Relief corps at the annual election of the corps held at Odd Fellows' hall, with Mrs. Mary Ann Knox elected vice president; Mrs. Affie Pullen, treasurer; Mrs. Floy Hilborn, junior vice president; Mrs. Nellie Morgan and Mrs. Bernice Schmidt, conductors; Mrs. Daisy LaDew, guard; Mrs. Barbara Clapp, chaplain.

Mrs. Jennie Lewis, president of the Garden Grove corps; Mrs. Milligan, president of Santa Ana corps; Mrs. Mary Mitchell, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Florence Merriam, of Orange, and members of their respective corps attended the meeting.

Handkerchief showers for Mrs. Arnett and Mrs. Arthur Fogler, who were celebrating birthdays this month, were presented by the corps and there was an anniversary cake for each served with cookies, coffee and candies during the social hour.

Record Turn-out Expected For Vet Fete Tonight

Secretary of State Cordell Hull would emphasize the freedom of American states as compared to totalitarian states of Europe in his address to the delegates.

Hull was expected to address the conference Saturday afternoon, outlining President Roosevelt's hopes for continental solidarity among the 21 American republics.

Will Cite Dangers
 It was believed that Hull would not speak in detail regarding any plans for continental defense but would lay the basis for defense cooperation by emphasizing the danger to American nations in the expansionist programs of European nations.

President Oscar R. Benavides of Peru is to welcome delegates to the conference at the formal opening tomorrow.

Foreign Minister Carlos Concha of Peru, as president of the conference, is to speak Saturday. After him Jose Maria Cantillo, chief of the Argentine delegation and one of the key men of the conference, is to make his speech.

Holds Parleys
 Hull comes next, and he is expected to be first to take up the serious business of the conference.

As soon as he arrived yesterday, he began conferences with delegation leaders. He talked to Concha, Cantillo, and the Chilean and Ecuadorian delegates on conference plans.

The secretary of state appeared most pleased as the result of his first talks and said he was gratified to find a unanimous will to compose any divergent opinions which might exist.

er as well as a plane carrier. After leading thunderous "hells" for Hitler, Field Marshal Hermann Goering, air minister, made the principal speech. He paid tribute to German land, sea and air forces "in a restless, divided world". He recalled the achievements of Germany in the World War and of the Zeppelins which raised London. He called Count Zeppelin "a good German, a fearless soldier, who fought for an idea."

Nazis recognized colonial developments in the British house of commons as a set back.

Blame Agitation
 The speech of Malcolm MacDonald, colonial minister, yesterday against arbitrary surrender of colonies was called in foreign office quarters here a surrender to popular sentiment in view of recent anti-German agitation throughout the world and particularly in British dominions.

It was admitted that the British government had never publicly favored restoration of any colonies to Germany, but German official circles had long believed that Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain would be willing to negotiate at the first favorable moment.

dance bands will play for the free dancing all day in Merriam hall, the new auditorium at the fair named after the retiring governor, Frank F. Merriam.

Stars to Glitter
 Hollywood celebrities will arrive in force to donate their talents for the various shows in front of the grandstand.

It is hadn't been for the movie stars, the inaugural ball was originally scheduled for Jan. 2, but a postponement was arranged because the actors and actresses were tied up with the Rose Bowl football game and parade.

Herbert V. Walker of Los Angeles, president of the Employees Association, and Ray Coughlin of Sacramento are in charge of the barbecue. Other important committeemen are David Lubin, and Lydell Peck of San Francisco, and Darwin Tate of Los Angeles.

Plot to Murder Father Revealed

Myers about the plot and he went to police and suggested they go through with the negotiations. Rose and Lemier were assigned to the case.

They instructed the go-between to arrange a meeting. After they met the son they took him for a drive.

"We posed as killers from Perugia," Lemier said. "Myers told us he wanted us to slug his father in an automobile and then the car off the Kankakee river bridge or else take him to Chicago, shoot him, and turn his pockets out to make it look like robbery."

Second Attempt
 "We promised to do it and he said he would give the check to the intermediary. The check was undated and he stipulated that it was not to be cashed until he had obtained his father's property."

As Myers handed over the check State Policemen James Bortell and Francis Vogel seized him and charged him with conspiracy to commit murder. He will be arraigned tomorrow. Conviction carries a maximum sentence of 25 years in the penitentiary.

Police said Myers had confessed that the plot was the second to fail in an attempt to kill his father. He said he had paid a hoodlum $100 to do the job in 1935 but the would-be killer ran away with the money without carrying out his part of the bargain.

Record Turn-out Expected For Vet Fete Tonight

One of the largest turn-outs of ex-service men this year was expected at the American Legion hall tonight when a dinner program will begin festivities at 6:30, according to announcement of James M. "Jimmie" Anderson.

"We particularly want to see that ex-service men who do not regularly attend Legion meetings come out tonight," Anderson said. "Many ex-service men who were not in the war long enough to feel the 'Buddy' spirit are urged to attend and get re-acquainted with fellow ex-service men. All men who saw service in the war, whether they be members of the Legion or not, are invited. The dinner will be free to all."

Superior Court Judge - Elect Franklin West will be the speaker of the evening. Entertainment will be provided by several acts of professional vaudeville from Los Angeles.

Miss Allora Heck Called By Death

Miss Allora Heck, 73, of 1229 South Birch street, died yesterday at St. Joseph hospital after an illness lasting two months.

A retired nurse, Miss Heck was born in Edinburgh, Indiana, and had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past six years. She is survived by one brother, Elvin Heck, of Greenfield, Ind., five sisters, Mrs. Bessie Ryerson, Hartford City, Ind.; Mrs. Maggie Kleinsmith, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Myrtle Rajal, and Miss Cora Heck, both of Louisville, Ky., and Mrs. Maude Betts, of Kokomo, Ind.

The body will be sent to Edinburgh, Ind., where funeral services will be held. Winbiger Mortuary is in charge of arrangements.

Slayer of Six Women To Die

CHICAGO, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Robert Nixon, 18, Negro, will die tonight in the electric chair at Cook county jail for the murder of Mrs. Florence Johnson, Chicago, one of six women he confessed slaying here and in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Johnson, wife of a city fireman, was beaten to death with a brick last May 27 in her home. Nixon confessed the slaying after police seized him near the Johnson home. He repudiated the confession later.

Police said he also admitted he killed Mrs. Florence Thompson Castle, and Miss Anna Kutecha, 18, of Chicago and Mrs. Edna Warder, and her daughter, Marguerite, 12, and Mrs. Rose Valdez, 21, all of Los Angeles.

Draws Fine For Flying Plane

FRESNO, Cal., Dec. 8.—(UP)—W. Richard Pengelly of the United States army engineering staff today paid a fine of $100 after pleading guilty to a charge of operating an airplane without a license.

The charge was preferred by George T. Johnson, superintendent of the Fresno municipal airport, who said Pengelly dove a plane over the Fresno State College stadium during a football game Nov. 27 and stunted at a low altitude in the vicinity.

court notes

Public Administrator E. R. Abbey today applied to superior court for letters of administration over the estate of the late Julia Dorn Long, of Santa Ana, who died October 12. The estate, estimated by Abbey to be worth not exceeding $10,000, goes to a niece, Lydia Dorn, and a nephew, George M. Dorn, both of Greensburg, Pa. It consists of a dwelling at 1055 West Third street, Santa Ana, together with notes and stocks.

Foreclosure of street improvement bonds aggregating $39.26, against property in Fullerton, was asked today in a superior court suit filed by Tromper Construction Company, Los Angeles, against the Bank of America and Mr. and Mrs. Guy S. Curtis.

Inventory and appraisement of the late Joe Lautenbach's home-stand interest in a dwelling in Anaheim, was filed in superior court today by State Appraiser James B. Utz, who valued the property at $2000. Petition has been filed to terminate his interest in the property.

Quelled Mutiny Newspapers To Be "Broadcast"

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 8.—(UP)—The world's first regular broadcast on ultra high frequency of specially prepared facsimile newspapers was announced yesterday by the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, which said the broadcasts will be continued daily and Sunday at 2 p.m.

The broadcasts were made by station WXYZ, experimental radio facsimile broadcasting station inaugurated by the Post-Dispatch. The newspaper said that for more than a month experimental broadcasts of printed matter, photographs and cartoons have been conducted and studied by engineers of radio station KSD, the commercial broadcasting station of the Post-Dispatch. During the past two weeks they were recorded on 15 receiving sets in homes of members of the staff of the station.

'Y' Basketeers To Meet Tonight

Team representatives for the four boys' basketball leagues will meet tonight at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. to complete arrangements for starting play soon after the first of the year.

Four leagues have been planned: Friendly Indians league, ranging in ages from 9 to 11 years; Pioneer league, with an age limit of 12 to 15 years; high school, 15 to 18, and the Junior college boys, 18 and over. The Pioneer and the Junior Hi-Y group will meet at 6:45 p. m. Friendly Indian leaders will gather at 7:30 p. m. and high school boys at 8:15 p. m.

Motion pictures of the entire performance are going to be taken, according to Vera Getty. The six students selected to lead the march are Cheryl Kreuter, Cheryl Dorothea, Dorothy Kimball, Dorothy Haan, Louise Seavy and Joan Plavan. They will be dressed in old fashioned colonial costumes during the performance.

Stanley Wilson To Address Club

Stanley Wilson, former Santa Ana junior college student and member of the Santa Ana "Y" will be the principal speaker at the Y. M. C. A. for dinner at 6:30 p. m. Wilson just recently returned from an extensive stay in central Europe. He will tell of his experiences and observations in that troubled sector. The committee in charge of the dinner include G. W. Bassett, Robert Forcey and Robert Ellis.

Douglas Company Hit By NLRB

The NLRB said was company supported and dominated. Charges that another 46 union members had been discriminated against for union activity were dismissed by the board.

"Unfair Practices"
 The board said that the strike followed "fruitless protests against the company's unfair labor practices in discharging UAW members in an effort to stem the union's organizing program."

The board said the damage to Douglas property during the strike was "slight" and that "violence to person was wholly absent."

The convicted strikers were fined after the jury recommended leniency. The cases were appealed.

The Douglas company contended that it should not be required to reinstate any of the strikers because they seized and destroyed company property.

Alien Losses Job
 The NLRB took cognizance of Douglas' assertion that it should not be required to reinstate an alien during the strike. Under army air corps rules, aliens cannot be employed in plants working on military aircraft. The NLRB said that since the alien Douglas employee is ineligible for full reinstatement, he should be given work for which he is eligible. If none is available, the board directed that he be placed on a preferential employment list.

The Douglas case raises the same issue involved in the Pansteel metallurgical case now before the Supreme Court. In that case, the seventh circuit court of appeals in Chicago divided two to one in ruling that participation in a sit down strike deprives workers of their rights under the Wagner act.

Associated Farmers Re-elect Bishop

VENTURA SEES CONCLAVE OPEN

With the re-election of Holmes Bishop, of Santa Ana, as president of the Associated Farmers, a new National Farmers' Association, growing from the recently organized "Associated" group, was anticipated today as the latter organization today opened its annual convention in Ventura.

Bishop, and other officers of the Associated Farmers of California were elected last night by directors of the organization, as more than 1000 members of the Association were pouring into Ventura for the meeting today.

Other officers elected at last night's directorship meeting included John Watson, Petaluma, and R. B. Badger, Rancho Santa Fe, as vice president and W. B. Camp, Bakersfield, as treasurer.

C. H. Kingsley, president of the California Agricultural Commissioners' Association, conducted one of two meetings in progress during the day. Agricultural commissioners from all but three of California's counties which employ this type of officer convened in the morning for a yearly instructional program.

C. C. Wilson, entomologist for the United States Department of Agriculture stationed at Sacramento, opened the program with an educational talk on Grasshoppers.

Associated Farmers today adjourned their morning business and gathered in Seaside Park for an outdoor noon barbecue. The barbecue speaker was announced as Paul Shoup, president of Southern Californians, Inc.

Speeches by John A. Pickett, editor of the Pacific Rural Press, and Adrian J. Falk, vice president of S. & W. Fine Foods, Inc., will be featured afternoon speakers in convention hall.

FIRES EXTINGUISHED

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Two small blazes called out the Orange fire department last night. One was at the John C. George home, 817 East Palmyra avenue, and the other at the A. O. Clifford home, 520 East Palmyra avenue. Both originated in papers stored in the garages and firemen said spontaneous combustion was the cause of both fires. Both were about 7:30 p.m.

CHURCH GROUP HOLDS DINNER

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Winners in a recent membership contest staged in the high school department of the First Methodist church were guests last night of the losers at a Christmas banquet at Epworth hall. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Sipherd are heads of the department and were in general charge, the latter decorating the long tables.

White frosted Christmas bells were used as centerpieces, similar smaller bells were used as nut cups and tables and the room were lighted with white tapers.

Program Presented

Dinner music was given by Arthur Sipherd Jr. on a steel guitar, selections including "Silent Night," "King's Serenade," "Aloha" and "Auld Lang Syne." Myrtle Stinson told a Christmas story and Christmas carols were sung, with Blanche Patton at the piano. Virginia Claypool sang a solo. The pastor of the church, the Rev. Arthur T. Hobson, made a short talk.

The welcome was extended by the head of the losing side called "The Tartars" and the response was made by Arthur T. Hobson Jr., the head of the winners, called "The Windjammers." Teachers of the department present included the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur T. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Shippee, Mrs. Gertrude Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nuffer, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Williams and Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Talmadge.

Members of the department sharing the event were Arthur T. Hobson Jr., Bud Talmadge, Norman Talmadge, Carolyn Klippinger, Thelma VanLew, Jean Moore, Virginia Claypool, Virginia Wilber, Jack Hancock, Doris McKinnon, Elizabeth McKinnon, Grace Mackell, Jack Wilber, Helen Horton, Mary Beth Newcom, Phyllis Eaton, Bill Morrow, Marguerite Miller, Vivian Harlan, Mary Louise Reed, Bill Douglas, Helen Drecher, Thelma Swenson, Darlene Mathews, Dick Newton, Blanche Patton, Elva Nuffer, Bob Kadau.

G. Stinson.

Man Invited To Pay for Sign

Fullerton police extended a special invitation to Arthur H. Fullerton of Fullerton yesterday after finding a damper school crossing sign.

The police told sheriff's officers Fullerton or someone driving his car ran over the sign and they wanted the one who did the same "to visit us and pay for same." Fullerton officers though Fullerton lived in El Toro but sheriff's office checked up, found he now lives in Fullerton, operates the shovel on a Santa Ana river project between Richfield-Yorba bridge and Yorba bridge. Now Fullerton police will pay Fullerton a visit, according to reports.

L. A. ROBBER SUSPECT HELD

Fred Redenbaugh, 23, of Los Angeles, charged with robbing Night Watchman Kenneth Michaels of the Casino at San Clemente when caught with two other men in the act of burglarizing the place, was held to answer to superior court yesterday by Judge Fred S. Warner of police court, San Clemente.

Information against Redenbaugh will be filed in superior court tomorrow at 10 a.m. and a trial date will be set. Bail was continued at $10,000.

Redenbaugh was implicated in the alleged burglary-robbing with Alex Albright, 37, Long Beach, and Martin Carkeek, 31, Sonoma. Redenbaugh has a 10-months county jail term to serve in Sonoma for carrying concealed weapons, after his case is concluded here while Carkeek was convicted as a four-times loser and sent to prison for life.

Jaysee Musical Is Postponed

"Trial by Jury," Jaysee's musical assembly, has been postponed until Friday, December 16, it was announced today by Miss Myrtle A. Martin, music department head. Miss Martin stated that the postponement was necessary because of the impossibility of obtaining free nights for rehearsals, and also, due to the addition of two new players, Ruth Alden and Arthur Sherman.

MOORE TO GIVE TALK ON BERLIN

A picture of the background of the German Revolution and a view of the present scene in Germany will be the subject for discussion to be presented by John S. Moore at the Little theater, 502 West Walnut street, at 7:30 tomorrow. The program is being presented by the adult education department of Santa Ana schools.

Tomorrow's lecture will be the second of a series presented by Moore who has traveled extensively in Europe during the past 12 years.

On Jewish Question
He has met many of the political and social leaders of Europe. Several times he has had opportunity of both seeing and hearing Adolf Hitler. The speaker has promised to touch on the trouble-some Jewish question. Last summer he was in Germany to obtain first hand information on this and other matters.

Next Friday's meeting will be a special Christmas Peace meeting. Plans are under way to procure a musical program which will precede Moore's talk on "Peace Prospects for Christmas 1938." The public is invited to attend both meetings.

Miss Bradbury Shower Honoree

LIBERTY PARK, Dec. 8.—Miss Phyllis Bradbury, native daughter of Wintersburg, was honored at a bridal shower Tuesday evening at the Joseph Lewis home at Liberty Park when Miss Ruby Lewis acted as hostess to a group of friends. Gifts of a miscellaneous nature were given Miss Bradbury, who will become the bride of James G. Koselnek, stationed at the Los Angeles navy base, during Christmas week.

Games entertained and refreshments of fruit jello and cackles and candies were served. Present were Miss Bradbury, the honoree, Mrs. P. W. Whitaker and Miss Gladys Whitaker, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Clarence Breeding, Mrs. David Nelson, Mrs. Mary McFadden, Mrs. Evelyn Wardlow, Mrs. Charles Paul Jr., Mrs. Don Harper, Mrs. Roscoe Bradbury, Miss Gladys Clemens, Mrs. Wilfred Wilson, Seal Beach, Mrs. Velma Cooper, Mrs. Sylvia Davis, Long Beach; Mrs. Alice Rogers, Santa Ana; Mrs. Maxine Treadway, Mrs. McIntyre, Santa Ana.

Mrs. Joe Lewis, Miss Lucille Lewis, and Miss Ruby Lewis. The same day Miss Bradbury, who is employed at the Smelter Lima Bean Growers association warehouse, was complimented by her co-workers with a miscellaneous shower.

H. B. Chamber To Elect On Dec. 19

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 8.—The chamber of commerce will elect twelve directors December 19, when polls close and the ballots are counted at 3 p. m. Ballots bearing the names of 24 candidates selected by a nominating committee will be mailed to all members of the organization on December 12.

The candidates are F. E. Bundy, W. J. Bristol, S. R. Bowen, Al Burkett, Sam Clapp, Walter Dabney, Fred Grabel, D. W. Huston, Dr. R. E. Hawes, H. W. Hartley, M. G. Jones, Bob Jurkovich, Loyal King, Roy Larson, Al Mathews, C. J. Porter, H. F. Rampton, C. M. Rood, Ted Tarbox, Collins Terry, H. W. Ullrich, Tom Wyllie W. H. Warner and Arthur Wilson.

Parties In Times Contempt Case Get 90 Days to Submit Briefs

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8.—(UP)—Interested parties in the Los Angeles Times contempt case which centers about the issue of freedom of the press today had 90 days to submit briefs and replies to the California supreme court.

The court will automatically take under submission the newspaper's appeal from conviction on contempt of court charges brought by the Los Angeles Bar Association. Oral arguments were completed late yesterday.

In Lower Court
The Times, its general manager, Norman Chandler, and managing editor, L. D. Hotchkiss, were convicted in a lower court for printing a series of editorials commenting on court cases which had been finally adjudicated.

A "middle of the road" solution was proposed in oral arguments by A. L. Wirin, attorney for the American Civil Liberties Union, an intervenor in the Times' behalf.

Makes His Plea
"Why not adopt the policy of the United States supreme court and apply the 'clear and present danger' rule and not adjudge the Times guilty of contempt unless it is shown that there was imminent danger that the editorials in question would interfere with the integrity of the court," Wirin asked. "Freedom of the press should be upheld without jeopardizing the integrity of the judiciary," he continued.

Holds Lack of Proof
"There is no implication that the action of the lower court was actually influenced by the editorials in question. There is only the fact that the editorials may or could have affected the judges' decisions."

"It has not been established that the judges even knew of, let alone read, the editorials," Allen Ashburne, attorney for the bar committee that brought the contempt case, attacked Wirin's proposal by asking "in other words, there is no harm in trying?"

He challenged the claim that the Times had not intended to influence the court and accused the newspaper of trying to dictate court policies especially in reference to labor cases.

"There has been an increasing boldness in presenting to the court the Times' view on matters under consideration," he asserted. "The Times refers to the court as acting as a 'spur' to the court—you gentlemen know that a spur is applied to the horse's flank to make him jump out of his skin."

Highest Rated Comedies Open In S. A. Today

Two of the season's highest rated comedies open today at the Broadway theater, both on the same double feature program. Adapted from the smash comedy which had New York audiences in an uproar for more than 61 weeks, "Room Service" with the Marx brothers, provides the three mad zanies with a ready-made story embodying the daffy situations and rollicking complications which always fit their peculiar comedy style.

In "Room Service," a shoestring producer wants to stage a footlight epic—without spending a penny. He and his cast of 22 are put up at a splendid hotel and are $1200 in arrears. He lures an "angel" with $15,000 into his trap and the fun is on. A faithful version of the famous stage play, the film features Lucille Ball and Ann Miller, with Frank Albertson in the leading roles supporting the maniacal Marxes.

The second comedy hit is "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off," presenting Joe Penner, popular radio and screen comedian, in the role of a daffy gridiron hero, in a story which pokes fun at collegiate football and campus life. June Travis and Richard Lane have prominent roles. An added attraction is an Our Gang comedy, "Aladdin's Lantern."

Claudette Colbert Appears In Person

Claudette Colbert and other notable film celebrities paid a visit to Santa Ana last night in company with executives of Paramount Studios.

The occasion was a preview shown at the Broadway theater. The picture previewed was a surprise, being one of the biggest of the new crop of films. It was "Zaza," co-starring Miss Colbert with Herbert Marshall.

At one point, the ceiling of the Carlsbad Caverns, N. M., is 300 feet high.

Opportunity Night 'Hotcha' Boys

Ev and Red Wallace, two of the hottest of the 'hotcha' boys in their 11-piece orchestra, above, furnish the music for the weekly "Opportunity Night" stage shows at Walker's theater. They're well-known in this county. The stage shows are presented each Friday night at 8:30. Tomorrow night, six local acts and two guest acts will be presented in addition to a specialty by the orchestra which always is an outstanding feature of "Opportunity Night." On the screen will be "Sons of the Legion" and "Girls on Probation" as well as selected short subjects.

FEDERAL CHORUS TO APPEAR IN CONCERT HERE ON DEC. 15

Music lovers will have the opportunity to hear the federal chorus again the evening of Dec. 15 when the singers appear for the first time this season on the federal symphony programs.

Programs of the combined groups they most enjoy," said Leon Eckles, conductor. "We have continual requests for Tchaikovsky, Rimsky-Korsakoff and others of the Russian masters."

In distinct contrast to the wildly barbaric Russian score, Eckles said the orchestra would play Mendelssohn's overture to "A Midsummer Night's Dream" and the overture to Wagner's Tannhauser. The concert, commencing at 8:15 p. m., will be played at the high school.

"Clouds," from a poem by an unknown author, set to music by Charles Treharne, is arranged for full chorus with alto solos. Lulu Shandrow and Myrtle Coe will sing the solo parts.

Chorus To Sing
Nobel Cain's "The Music of Life," the Campbell-Tipton classic, "Spirit Flower," and "Rhapsodia Espanola" (Albeniz-Emanuel), perhaps the most dramatic of the choral numbers, complete the song group. The chorus will sing to piano accompaniment played by Mrs. Mae Renfer. The instrumental feature is Borodin's Second Symphony in B-minor. "Local audiences show a preference for Russian music, gauged by the replies we receive to questionnaires asking what type of musicway."

Harbor Arranges Yule Decorations

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 8.—The Newport-Balboa district will be a factor in the Christmas lighting program along the Orange county coast. Chairman S. A. Meyer of the coast group has secured the support of a Newport Harbor chamber of commerce committee consisting of John A. Siegel, Charles F. Demmon, Fred P. Storey and Judge Grainger Hyer. An extensive scheme of decorations and illumination is planned, with the main features centering on suitable locations along the state highways asking what type of musicway.

S. A. BIRDMEN TO SELL YULE 'PLANES'

The Santa Ana Birdmen, well-known model airplane club, today announced plans to sell model airplanes during the Christmas season. Dana P. Washburn, manager of Montgomery Ward's reports. The club, which boasts of two Southern California champions among its members, will make Ward's its sales headquarters. Many fine models of planes will be on display during the sale, Washburn said.

"We feel that these planes which are being offered at 50 cents and $1 are the finest planes of their type and price in America today," Tom Engelman, winner in the national model design contest, stated. Engelman designed all of the planes to be sold here. All of the planes come completely packed and are tested by club members before being packed.

The Santa Ana Birdmen club is conducting a free drawing in conjunction with the sale and any child who registers at the store will be in line to win a beautiful "Aerona" model valued at $6 and to be delivered to the winner Christmas morning. Displays of the planes are in the window and include both gas and conventional models.

THREE CROPS IN 70 YEARS
YUTON, Ill. (UP)—A field on the farm of F. J. Basting near here has yielded three crops in the past 70 years with no cultivation. Basting harvested a crop of hedge posts this year which he figures will bring him $6 to $7 an acre. It was the third yield since 1870.

Spook Show Sale Of Tickets Heavy

A brisk sale of advance tickets for the startling stage performance of Jacar's Spook Show Saturday night at the Broadway theater, was reported today. Many hundreds of patrons are expected to undergo a shocking rise in blood pressure when they see the show, which will start at 11:45 p. m. Doors of the theater will open at 11:30 p. m. Saturday.

To put the finishing touch on this ghost party, Manager George King has booked a special showing of the laugh-provoking mystery thriller, "One Frightened Night" featuring Mary Carlisle, Wallace Ford and Charlie Grapewin, in addition to the 45-minute stage production by Jacar. Ghosts, bats, skulls, balls of fire, singing violins and eerie spiders are only part of the creepy performance to be staged by Jacar.

Annually, London spends $40,000, 000 on its police force.

Four Members of Coast Christmas Lighting Contest Named Today

IMPORTANCE OF SOUTHLAND SAILING EVENTS STRESSED

Urging that more attention be given to winter sailing and boating and pointing out the attractions Southern California offers in this direction, the State Chamber of Commerce will consider including the subject of winter sailing at its next annual session.

The suggestion that this be considered was presented by Secretary Harry Welch of the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce when the state group met recently in San Francisco, it was revealed today.

To Name Committee
At the present time the division of winter sports includes only those associated with snow areas and it is believed that an elaborate program of other winter attractions can be developed. Norman H. Rothman, formerly of Orange county, now of San Francisco, supported the suggestion which was received with considerable enthusiasm and a special section and committee will be created to study the plan.

Members of the Forty-five Foot Sailing association will sail en masse for Newport harbor from San Pedro on Saturday and the Newport Harbor Yacht club is making extensive preparations to welcome the navigators. Later in the month the Newport Harbor Yacht club will stage its annual Christmas regatta with a series of three races, each for nine or more classes of sailing craft.

Recreational Center
Orange county's harbor is becoming more and more the recreational and yachting center of Southern California and yachtsmen from all parts of the coast are looking to the baby port to take the initial steps in a series of yachting events which will draw contestants and sailing enthusiasts from all sections of the United States, Welch said today.

BIRTHDAY OBSERVED
SAN JUAN CASTRANO, Dec. 8.—The 11th birthday of Mildred Deer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Deer, was observed recently with a birthday party. The afternoon was spent playing game, followed by a course of dainty refreshments, served by Mrs. Deer, to those present Mary Margaret Cook, Mary Violet Bathgate, Ruth Demaree, Marie Deer, Margaret Johnson, Marilyn Esslinger, Colleen Billips, Jane Braly, Virginia Lamb and the honoree Mildred Deer.

CITY EMPLOYEES IN YULE AFFAIR

Approximately 350 men, women and children are expected to attend the City Employees association Christmas party, plans for which were being completed today. The party will be held in the American Legion hall beginning at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, December 22.

The program committee is composed of Harold Rasmussen, chairman; Hunter Leath, W. A. Kintz, W. G. Secrest, Norma Fitzgerald, Marion Suttner and Edith Hay. Each adult attending the party must provide a "ticket of admission"—any 15-cent Christmas present.

Free For Children
Children of city employees will be admitted free and all city employees expecting to attend are urged to register, giving the number of persons in their family who plan to attend.

With Santa Claus as the center of attraction, a party for the children will be a highlight of the evening. A short entertainment program will be offered for everybody and sandwiches and coffee will be furnished.

City Plans Change In Unlimited Parking Areas

Many motorists who park in unlimited parking zones several blocks from the downtown area and walk to their work will be disappointed soon.

That was revealed today as city workmen made preparations to change numerous unlimited parking zone areas to two-hour parking zone areas.

Sycamore street from Church to 10th streets, a popular all-day parking area, will be affected by the change as will several locations in the southeast and south part of the city, south of First street.

Tustin Church To Hold Bazaar

TUSTIN, Dec. 8.—The Advent Christian church of Tustin will hold a bazaar and cooked food sale Friday in the Tustin Townsend hall. A luncheon will be served between 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. and dinner between 5 and 7 p. m.

College Events

Visit From Santa
The appearance of Santa Claus in the person of club member Jimmy Haarstad was a welcome feature last night at the meeting of Sigma Phi Sigma, junior college, honorary music society. Santa presided over the gift exchange planned for the evening. Miss Margaret Elmsner was hostess to the group in her home, 1770 East Fourth street.

A musical program provided by evening's events. Charles Sayers played a movement from Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata." Miss Anna May Archer played a cello solo, "Romance," by Gellermann. A trio playing an extract from "Rosamond" was next. Composing the trio were Miss Margaret Jaberger, violin; Miss Anna May Archer, cello; Miss Verna Osborne, piano. "Ave Maria" by Schubert was played by Miss Jaberger. A piano solo by Miss Edna Walker closed the program with another movement from the "Moonlight Sonata." Club pine were decided upon and the club scrap book was presented for inspection. Plans for a concert to be given in January were also formulated.

Refreshments carrying out the Christmas motif were served by the hostess and her mother, Mrs. Ernest H. Elmsner. The remainder of the evening was spent in playing games.

Officers of the club are president, Anna May Archer; vice-president, Gilman Brookings; secretary, Edna Walker; treasurer, Charles Sayers, and press chairman, Horace Evans. Club advisers are Miss Myrtle Martin and Alan A. Revell. Others present at the meeting were the Misses Ruth Alden, Marjorie Ball, Margaret Elmsner, Maxine Huber, Margaret Jaberger, Virginia Matthews, Verna Osborne, Nina June Robertson, Merle Swingle, Edna Walker, the Messers, Milton Asher, Horace Evans, Jimmy Haarstad, George Hyde, Jack Lighthart, Onie Sanders, Charles Sayers, Norman St. Claire, Vernon Warden and Le Roy Wells.

While visions of the good things of Christmas dance in her head, Shirley Elizabeth Bryant pens a plea to the old gent with the whiskers. This picture was taken in San Francisco, but might have been made in Santa Ana or Orange county, or almost anywhere in America.

FARM DISTRICTS TO BE MERGED

All Orange county districts of the Orange County Agricultural Conservation association will be combined into one district in the near future, John Burnett, secretary-manager of the association said today following a meeting at the association office, 622 North Main street.

To Send Notices
The half dozen districts of the county, represented by committees, are branches of the AAA, national government organization originated to aid agriculture.

Burnett said notices will be sent prior to the election of association officers. The election will be held soon.

LOWELL P.-T. A. TO CONVENE TUESDAY

The Lowell school P.-T. A. December meeting will be held in the school auditorium Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., Dec. 13.

The program will open with community singing of Christmas carols. The Lowell school harmonica band will give several selections. Miss Bernice Minder's fourth grade room will give a play entitled "La Pasadaya".

Judge K. E. Morrison will give a talk on "Spiritual Growth of the Child."

The meeting will be followed by a social hour under the direction of the fourth grade mothers.

FRANKLIN SCHOOL MEETING

The Franklin school P.-T. A. will hold its next regular meeting Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the kindergarten room it was announced today. Justice of Peace Kenneth Morrison will be the speaker.

STUDENTS ARE READY TO GIVE 'VAGABOND KING' TOMORROW

Jimmie Fidler in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8.—Setting Around (Twentieth Century-Fox): Sitting in this studio's swank cafe, watching the parade of grease-painted notables, I'm always impressed by the great furor that Hollywood makes over "personality" as compared with the indifferent rewards that it gives to genuine acting ability. Tyrone Power enraptures—and there's a buzz of idolatrous comment. Sonja Henie twinkles through the doors—and every pair of eyes in the huge cafe follows her to her table. Alice Faye, Don Ameche, Loretta Young and Shirley Temple walk in the spotlight. Despite the acting ability of a few of them, they are primarily exponents of personality, of glamour.

Sitting just a few tables away, in comparative oblivion, you see some of the greatest actors in screen history—Peter Lorre, Jean Hersholt, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg, Miles Mander. Any one of them has forgotten more about acting than nine stars out of ten will ever know. They get good salaries, have some assurance that their jobs will be "permanent" and now and then a critic throws a bone to their professional pride by praising work. But the plaudits of the crowd go to the glamour boys and girls.

It's the fleeting nature of stardom that keeps the scales from being too overbalanced. Our stars remind me of the victims taht the Aztecs selected for sacrifice. For a year they were treated like gods—then the knife fell...

CHATTER ABOUT TWENTIETH CENTURY IDOLS: Technicolor for Shirley Temple is like mince pie after a big Christmas dinner—sort of unnecessary. Name your own bet and your own odds—Don Ameche will cover it. The waxed duet Alice Faye and Tony Martin are sending to their friends by way of Xmas greeting, is plenty sweet music. More than one girl on this lot looks disconsolate since that Tyrone Power-Annabella romance has been in headlines. Jane Withers has been promoted—her box office report card's been so satisfactory that she goes into Class "A" productions. Best off-screen comedy in town: Wally Vernon's imitation of Helen Morgan singing "My Bill." Ask Loretta Young "How's that adopted daughter," and you've won a life-long friend. How did I ever miss Billie Barnes when I compiled my list of stars with the most sex appeal?

On the "Mr. Moto in Porto Rico" set, watched at involved scene between Peter Lorre, Jean Hersholt.

Report Giants In Deal For Bonura

Son Captains Father's Team

DeOrmond (Tuss) McLaughry, left, views his fine fullbacking boy, John Jackson McLaughry, with pardonable pride. Elected captain of Brown University's 1938 varsity, John is believed to be the first son of a coach to captain his father's major football team.

LONGDEN NEAR U. S. JOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP

BY THOMAS H. NOONE
(United Press Staff Editor)

NEW YORK—Johnny Longden, a 28-year-old rider from Calgary, Canada, looks like the champion jockey of 1938.

With only nine days left to hide at Tanforan, Longden today was 19 winners ahead of his nearest rival, Johnny Adams, who topped the field last year. Longden has had 218 winners in 1937 races; Adams, 199 in 1938. (Excluding Wednesday's results.)

Longden, who finished 13th last year, and Adams have been staying a nip and tuck duel on the Santa Francisco track for the past two weeks.

The race might have been even closer if Adams hadn't suffered a fractured leg during the summer when he was on top. Since returning to the tracks, the 23-year-old Iowa, Kans., rider has tried hard to overhaul Longden but his chances now are very slim, unless Longden should be forced out during the next few days.

Regardless which finished on top, he will be the second full-fledged jockey to lead since Ivan Parke won in 1924. Last year Adams headed the list but he did not have the apprentice allowance held by leaders from 1925 through 1936.

Besides Adams, only two former champions—Johnny Gilbert, 1932, and Basil James, 1936—are among the first 12 this season. Gilbert, now under suspension by the Maryland commission, was ninth when the Eastern season ended last month. James was eighth.

From a percentage standpoint, James is the season's leader with victories in slightly more than 22 out of each 100 races he has ridden.

The best apprentice in the current ranking is Sammy Williams, third with 187 winners. He is now at New Orleans.

The 12 leaders follow:

Laguna Council Abandons Plans For Sewer Project

DINNER PARTY HELD FOR TEAM

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 8.—Members of the Garden Grove Lions club entertained members of varsity football team of the Garden Grove Union High school with a banquet in the art room of the high school Tuesday evening. Leslie Wright and Victor McClain were in charge of arrangements, with Dick Haster as program chairman.

President Haster introduced Coach Blanchard Beatty, who presented Leroy Littlejohn, captain of the football squad for next year, and the captain for 1938, Bob Ward. He announced that 14 players on this year's team were members of the graduating class.

The trophy from the Lions club was presented to Bob Ward for having been the most outstanding player on the team. The trophy, which has his name inscribed upon it, will remain at the school.

Bill Cook, coach of Santa Ana Junior college, discussed various types of plays. On behalf of the team, Coach Beatty was presented with a hunting bag. All joined in singing popular football songs, with Miss Margaret Reed playing the piano accompaniment.

The dinner was served by Mrs. Laura Reynolds, Mrs. Conrad Schroff and Mrs. Victor McClain. Small footballs were used as favors at each place.

HOLD SPECIAL MEETING SOON

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—Plans for sewer construction in the McKnight addition were formally abandoned by the city council last night, following a tumultuous session held in Community theater, where the second "protest meeting" was held.

Scott in Address

High light in the proceedings was an address by Joseph H. Scott, prominent Los Angeles attorney, who owns property in Laguna Beach. Scott extolled the beauties of Laguna Beach, whose people he characterized as "friendly and happy," in sharp contrast to Mr. Scott's own town of Los Angeles, which he stigmatized as "the psychopathic department of California." Touching on the matter of sewers, Scott urged his listeners to defeat the proposed bond issue.

Opposition Expressed

Many speakers, extemporizing as well as those fortified with figures, expressed sharp opposition to the sewer project, among the opponents being J. H. Newcomb, Dr. Richmond C. Lane, Mrs. J. K. Kleitich, George H. K. Longskott and Attorney Parley Smith of Santa Ana, drafter of the main petition against sewer construction.

Mayor Howard G. Heisler, outlining the work done to date in preparation of the plans for contemplated sewage handling, stressed alleged insanitary conditions prevailing in the district affected, offering as a suggestion that the matter be left in abeyance for 60 days, in order that a new application for WPA funds assistance might be drafted.

Engineer Speaks

A. S. Monroe, former city engineer of San Diego, explained his position as assistant to the city in preparing the preliminary steps in the mooted bond issue. Herman Mapes, assessment "spreader," likewise outlined his actions in apportioning tentative assessments.

To take care of the sewage situation, allegedly grave, for special meeting is to be held next week, at which engineers will survey the existing disposal plant, ascertaining its functional status, with a view to rectifying the conditions.

Committee Appointed

President Spicer has appointed J. E. Sadler, C. F. Watts and A. J. Twist a special committee to audit the books and present a report. Lew H. Wallace as chairman of a special budget committee of the chamber will shortly submit a report for securing additional revenue. In the meantime directors are each acting as a committee of one in securing additional memberships and three new members were reported at the regular meeting a few days ago.

Physician Talks At Lions Session

COSTA MESA, Dec. 8.—Warren Mendenhall of the county school system and Dr. John P. David, Santa Ana physician, discussed the question of socialized medicine at the Tuesday meeting of the Costa Mesa-Newport Harbor Lions club. The problem was viewed by the layman as discussed by Mendenhall while Dr. David presented the project from a medical viewpoint.

Calvin Flint, dean of men at Santa Ana Junior college, was the speaker at the dinner session yesterday of the Newport Harbor service club. Named as a committee for the service club Christmas party were Jack Twist, chairman; Heinz Kaiser, Albert Payne, J. W. Watkins and Frank Crocker.

Royal Neighbors To Sponsor Party

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Dec. 8.—Royal Neighbors will hold a public card party at the L.O.O.F. hall at 1:30 p. m. December 12. Auction bridge and "500" will be played and prizes awarded. Mesdames H. Trichter and May Forrester are in charge.

Chess Club Meets

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—Resuming activities for the winter season, the Laguna Beach Chess club now meets regularly each Friday night at the Round Table, 1305 Coast Boulevard South. Current attraction is a tournament, chief prize in which is a valuable painting by the Russian artist, Vladimir Perilleff, resident of Laguna and himself an ardent chess enthusiast. Nearly 30 members are enrolled and invitation is extended to all interested in the game, to attend and participate in the weekly sessions.

How To Hold Loose

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 8.—More firmly in place. Does a loose dental plate annoy and bother you by rocking and wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh? Just sprinkle a little FAS-TEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) denture powder, on your plate. This pleasant powder holds loose false teeth more firmly in place. No sticky, oily, pasty taste or feeling. Mildly alkaline—FAS-TEETH doesn't sour or cause decay. Also checks gum soreness due to chafing of a loose plate or excessive acid mouth. Get FAS-TEETH at your druggist. When mouth tissues change, see your dentist.

Side Glances

By George Clark

"You've always been a favorite of theirs, Aunt Lucy."

(The characters in this serial are fictitious)

"Not at all," said Martin, but he looked disconcerted. "You've met Miss Bailey, I believe. And this is Mister."

"Lancaster," Judith finished coquettishly. "I've just met him. He's one of my admirers, dear, and I shall never forgive you!"

Martin motioned for another

chair, and Linda moved close to him, and Judith calmly inserted herself between Linda and Fred at the round table.

It was all very confusing to Linda, and very exasperating. With Judith monopolizing Fred and probably letting the cat out of the bag about Linda's noax, there was nothing for her to do except talk to Martin, a situation which he took immediate advantage of.

"I've been worrying about you," he told her quietly.

"You needn't have," Linda assured him. "I've been doing very nicely, thank you."

"You've succeeded in getting into the movies?"

"Not exactly," she confessed. "But, I'm head proud. 'I may be there any day.'"

"I'm glad to hear that," Martin finished his shrimp cocktail and pushed it away. "Why didn't you let me help you?" he asked reproachfully.

"DON'T you know why?"

"Was it something I said or did, if so?"

Linda sighed and shook her head vigorously. "I'd rather not discuss it."

"But, it was very silly of you to refuse to take that test."

"Perhaps. Still, if I get my chance now I won't be under any obligation to anyone!"

Martin nodded stiffly. "I see. You make it rather plain."

Desperately, Linda changed the subject. "You were very kind this afternoon in helping me pretend to Fred that I've been successful out here."

Martin looked wryly across the table where Fred and Judith had their heads close together.

"I'm afraid Judith will dispel any further illusions."

"I don't care. He's leaving at midnight," Linda explained. "I didn't want him to take a story of my failure home, but it doesn't matter, after all."

The dinner dragged on, somehow, to an end. It was late when they parted from Judith and Martin at the curb outside. Sinking into the back seat of her hired limousine, Linda waited until Fred sat down beside her and then asked: "Well?"

There was a long pause. Then Fred took her hand and said gravely: "I don't understand you, Linda. Judith says—"

"The heck with Judith!" Linda exploded. She pulled her hand away from Fred. "If you want to believe a cat's paw female like her, that's your privilege. Fred Lancaster."

FRED drew away stiffly. "After all, Linda, she only wants to help you. From what she told me about the sort of place you've been living in, I gather that you need help—and I want to."

Linda slid over to the opposite corner as far away from him as she could get.

"Judith is jealous of Martin and me, for no reason at all," she told him coldly. "If you prefer to believe Judith rather than the evidence of your own senses, go ahead. She's made a fool out of smarter men than you. Does she call the Granada Arms evidence that I'm not getting along all right?"

"But she said you were living down in a little—"

"She's jealous because I've been given a part she wanted in Martin's new picture," Linda lied angrily. "You're just an idiot, Fred Lancaster, that's all you are!"

They were pulling up in front of the canopied entrance to the Granada Arms. Fred got out, looking puzzled. "I admit I don't understand Hollywood very well," he muttered. "But, just the same—"

"Let's go in," Linda suggested wearily. "Maybe there'll be some more surprises in store for you inside."

"Not at all," said Martin, but he looked disconcerted. "You've met Miss Bailey, I believe. And this is Mister."

Martin motioned for another

chair, and Linda moved close to him, and Judith calmly inserted herself between Linda and Fred at the round table.

It was all very confusing to Linda, and very exasperating. With Judith monopolizing Fred and probably letting the cat out of the bag about Linda's noax, there was nothing for her to do except talk to Martin, a situation which he took immediate advantage of.

"I've been worrying about you," he told her quietly.

"You needn't have," Linda assured him. "I've been doing very nicely, thank you."

"You've succeeded in getting into the movies?"

"Not exactly," she confessed. "But, I'm head proud. 'I may be there any day.'"

"I'm glad to hear that," Martin finished his shrimp cocktail and pushed it away. "Why didn't you let me help you?" he asked reproachfully.

"DON'T you know why?"

"Was it something I said or did, if so?"

Linda sighed and shook her head vigorously. "I'd rather not discuss it."

"But, it was very silly of you to refuse to take that test."

"Perhaps. Still, if I get my chance now I won't be under any obligation to anyone!"

Martin nodded stiffly. "I see. You make it rather plain."

Desperately, Linda changed the subject. "You were very kind this afternoon in helping me pretend to Fred that I've been successful out here."

Martin looked wryly across the table where Fred and Judith had their heads close together.

"I'm afraid Judith will dispel any further illusions."

"I don't care. He's leaving at midnight," Linda explained. "I didn't want him to take a story of my failure home, but it doesn't matter, after all."

The dinner dragged on, somehow, to an end. It was late when they parted from Judith and Martin at the curb outside. Sinking into the back seat of her hired limousine, Linda waited until Fred sat down beside her and then asked: "Well?"

There was a long pause. Then Fred took her hand and said gravely: "I don't understand you, Linda. Judith says—"

"The heck with Judith!" Linda exploded. She pulled her hand away from Fred. "If you want to believe a cat's paw female like her, that's your privilege. Fred Lancaster."

FRED drew away stiffly. "After all, Linda, she only wants to help you. From what she told me about the sort of place you've been living in, I gather that you need help—and I want to."

Linda slid over to the opposite corner as far away from him as she could get.

"Judith is jealous of Martin and me, for no reason at all," she told him coldly. "If you prefer to believe Judith rather than the evidence of your own senses, go ahead. She's made a fool out of smarter men than you. Does she call the Granada Arms evidence that I'm not getting along all right?"

"But she said you were living down in a little—"

LATE NEWS FROM ORANGE

OFFICERS FOR W.R.C. CHOSEN

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Mrs. Julia B. Pratt was again chosen president of the Orange Women's Relief Corps when election of 1938 officers was held yesterday afternoon. Other executive officers include Mrs. Florence Merriman, senior vice president; Mrs. Ethel Mann, junior vice president; Mrs. Essie Rodgers, treasurer; Mrs. Emma Anthony, chaplain; Mrs. Minnie Squier, conductor; Mrs. Genevieve Scharer, guard.

Delegates Named

Delegates to the state convention at Berkeley in April were elected. They are Mesdames Elena Craig, Mary Schlusman, Minnie Heuck, Emma Anthony, Meta Vail and Ethel Mann.

Two flags were voted as donations by the corps, one to be given to the Orange Union High school band and another to the new junior W. R. C. being organized in Westminster. Members also voted to have a large portrait of Mrs. Gladys McDonald, active W. R. C. worker who passed away several months ago, framed and placed on the wall of the meeting room at American Legion clubhouse.

The annual Christmas party will be held December 21 this year, and hostesses will be Mesdames Rozalia Smith, Blanche Campbell, and Minnie Heuck.

It was announced that a public

COMMUNITY VESPER SERVICE HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL SOON

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—The community is invited to Christmas vesper services Sunday afternoon at Orange Union High school auditorium, beginning at 4 o'clock, when songs and tableaux telling the Christmas story will be portrayed by pupils of Orange elementary schools.

Miss Rachel Williams will direct the performance and Miss Eldene Watson will be at the organ.

Program Outlined

The program will begin with a procession, "O Come All Ye Faithful," with Miss Watson at the organ, followed by a carol, "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." Miss Betty Hartman, reader, will tell the Christmas story, which will be followed by a carol and tableau, "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

The eighth grade girls' school club of the Intermediate school will sing "Bring a Torch, Jeanette Isabella," which will be followed by the carol and tableau, "The First Noel."

A song "Cantique de Noel," will be followed by the carol and tableau, "We Three Kings," and another song, "Under the Stars." "Silent Night" will be the subject of the next tableau, followed by "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." "Joy to the World," the final tableau, will be followed by the song, "Goodnight," and the finale of the performance will be the selection, "Christmas Prayer."

Members of Cast

The cast is as follows: "Mary," Margaret Carpenter; "Joseph," Raymond Curry; kings (singers) David Beck, Warren McGill, and Robert Pestolesi; kings (in tableau), Donald Hanson, Earl Horton, and Jimmy Green.

Shepherds will be portrayed by Glenn Green, Robert Smart, Leslie Harrison, Junior Kilgore, Everett will be played by Joanne Peterson, Betty Jean Marger, Nell Marie Schildmeyer, Mary Ann Bowman, Margaret McQuillin, Dorothy Gommel and Marjorie Kinney.

COLLEGE BOY AUCTIONEER
COLUMBUS, O. (UP) — Paul Good, senior in Ohio State University's college of agriculture, and a native of Van Wert county, has upset the tradition that livestock auctioneers are men of mature years by being a full-fledged auctioneer at 22 years of age.

benefit card party will be sponsored by W. R. C. at the home of Mrs. Minnie Squier tomorrow afternoon, beginning with a dessert luncheon at 1 o'clock. Mrs. Grace Deck and Minnie Heuck will be co-hostesses.

MASONS NAME NEW OFFICERS

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—Robert P. Graham was elected worshipful master of Orange Grove lodge No. 293 F. & M. at a meeting held Tuesday night at the Masonic hall. Other officers were George Weimer, senior warden; Seligford Swanson, junior warden; J. D. Campbell, treasurer; Jack Lampert, secretary.

Appointive officers will be announced at a regular meeting to be held December 20. Second degree is to be conferred December 13.

Installation ceremonies are to take place December 27, with A. H. Allen of Santa Ana as installing officer. As a surprise to the worshipful master, 12 past masters of the lodge sat in the east. They were William Feldner, Carl I. Thomas, L. W. Thompson, R. C. Bunch, Sherman Gillogly, Dan Gruwell, H. Z. Adams, Nels T. Edwards, W. C. Lee, Jack Lampert, J. D. Campbell and J. F. Rowell.

The "round table" talk was given by Nels T. Edwards, who told of a recent trip to South America, while J. D. Campbell showed pictures of the trip taken by Edwards.

Civic Body To Sponsor Sontest
ORANGE, Dec. 8.—An outdoor Christmas tree contest is to be sponsored by the Orange Community chamber of commerce, according to plans made at a meeting held Tuesday. A committee to complete details for the event was appointed and includes Carl Schroeder, E. F. Gould, Ray Atull, W. J. Rice, J. E. Donegan, Dr. Thomas B. Rhone and Paul G. Muench.

Trees will be judged December 23. Plans for the annual Christmas party for children of the community under 12 years of age were outlined in detail and the date set was December 21, a change from December 20. The party will be held in the Plaza square and 250 prizes will be distributed by Santa Claus, as well as sacks of candy.

The annual meeting will be held January 19 at the Woman's clubhouse. All service clubs will be asked to omit regular sessions and join with the chamber of commerce at the dinner. The committee appointed to take charge of the dinner and program includes Russell Caldwell, Ivan Swanger, Don Parsons, Frank H. Collins, Martell Thompson and E. H. Smith.

P-T. A. Arranges Christmas Party

EL MODENA, Dec. 8.—The December meeting of the El Modena P-T. A. will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the library room of the Roosevelt school building. The meeting will be in the form of a Christmas party with a bazaar and candy sale.

The program will be in charge of Mrs. J. D. Rossier. Mrs. Clarence Wamsley, chairman of the homemaking department, requests all articles for the bazaar be brought to the school Monday. Those who can help with the candy making are asked to meet at the school Monday afternoon.

Beware Coughs from common colds That Hang On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your common cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you may get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel germ-laden phlegm.

Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained. Creomulsion is one word, ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

TIPPY TACKER'S CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE

Luncheon Is Farewell Courtesy Extended Mrs. Fondren

Just preceding recent departure of the Charles B. Fondrens of South Broadway, for their new home in Whittier, Mrs. Fondren was complimented at a charmingly planned luncheon, held in the home of Mrs. L. D. Spencer, 1301 South Van Ness avenue.

Especially active in Spurgeon P. T. A., Mrs. Fondren found that some of her close friends and associates in that organization, had taken special interest in planning the luncheon in her honor. Table decorations carried in their color and design, a cheerful reminder of the Yuletide so soon to be celebrated. At the conclusion of service, the group presented a pretty potted plant to the honor guest.

Several kodak pictures were taken during the afternoon to serve as reminder of a happy day spent by the honor guest, Mrs. Fondren, and her hostesses, Mesdames L. E. Spencer, Victor H. Hupp, Lorin Blakely, T. H. Huffman, Guy T. Matics, Thomas Smith, Alfred Knight, Bert Hagan, Frank Von Hetch, Robert Birkhead, Fred Ray, Edwin Baird, E. M. Newburn, Frank Bigelow, Harley Neill, Monroe Walcher and J. E. Sims.

You and Your Friends

Among Santa Anans in Claremont Tuesday night for the appearance of Edna St. Vincent Millay, world famous poet, were Mrs. T. E. McLeod, Mrs. Harvey Doeksen (Mary Bowyer), the Misses Frances Hill and Norma Kenny. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pettis have taken possession of their interesting new home at 1407 Martha Lane. Mr. Pettis is mining engineer and he and Mrs. Pettis returned just a year ago from several years' residence in Ecuador. They spent the first few months in San Francisco, coming only recently to Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Fondren and family have moved from 1226 South Broadway, to Whittier, where Mr. Fondren's duties as an insurance man, are now centered.

Football Dinner Set For Saturday

ORANGE, Dec. 8.—The annual football banquet will be held Saturday at 6:30 p. m. at Orange Union high school cafeteria, with Gary Breckner, sports radio commentator as the speaker. Members of the varsity football teams will receive letters. Members of the "B" and "C" teams are to be guests of the Orange Lions club at the football game between Oregon State and U.C.L.A. Saturday and varsity team members are to be Rotary guests on the same occasion. About 60 will attend the game.

Mixing Bowl BY ANN MEREDITH

Prune whip, hot or served chilled with whipped cream, is always a good dessert bet. Clip and save this recipe for use during the holidays.

Baked Prune Whip
1-2 cups finely chopped cooked prunes mixed with the juice of a lemon
Beat 4 egg whites to the frothy stage and gradually work in 2-3 cup sugar and 1-4 teaspoon salt
1 cup finely shredded cocoanut. —a tested recipe.

Set the oven for 325 degrees and butter a shallow casserole. Prepare prunes and have cocoanut handy. Then and only then, beat the egg whites, for their lightness is the leavening power in this case. Into the beaten egg whites, fold prunes and cocoanut. Pile by spoonful into the casserole, smooth over top and sprinkle with more cocoanut and a dusting of sugar.

Bake until firm in the slow oven (about 45 minutes or less if dish is shallow). Serve immediately with this cream. The quantity serves eight.

Will you contribute your favorite recipe, or a party menu, or labor saving idea in exchange or our Calory List, plus a stamped, addressed envelope? Believe me, you'll be getting the long end of the bargain, so send for the list right away.

TODAY'S RECIPES From Betty

8 slices dry toast, rolled into crumbs
8 apples, peeled and run through grinder
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup sweet pickle syrup or fruit syrup
4 tablespoons butter.
Butter a shallow casserole line with crumbs, then alternate crumbs and apples in layers. Sugar and butter each layer of apples, pour the syrup over top of dish, dot with additional butter and bake 45 minutes in a medium oven. Serve hot with thin cream.

Sweet Potato Patties

Peel and boil required amount of sweet potatoes.
Mash potatoes and add enough syrup from a can of apricots to make a patty consistency.
Roll crisp corn flakes, rather coarsely.
Make sweet potato patties, roll each in rolled corn flakes.
Butter muffin tins. Place a patty in each muffin cup. Make a hole in center of each patty, put in a piece of butter, top with a marshmallow and bake in a hot oven just long enough to brown and melt the marshmallow. —contributed.

Isn't this a clever way to make this well known dish? Remove carefully from the muffin tins and arrange around chops, chicken, or sliced baked ham.
Fruit Rocks
Cream 1 cup butter with 11-2

U. S. W. V. Group Has Election; Plans Activities

Officers were elected, yearly reports given and other special features took place Tuesday night at a meeting of Calumet Auxiliary U. S. W. V. in the Knights of Columbus hall. Mrs. Ruth Hess, who has been serving as president, was re-elected to that post.

Other new officers were named as Effie Hawley, senior vice president; Grace Deck, chaplain; Dena Isbell, patriotic instructor; Ethel Lindsey, historian; Phoebe Hyatt, conductress; Mary Cooper, assistant conductress; Marie Lindquist, guard; Anna Gall, assistant guard. Appointive offices will be named at the next meeting.

Yearly reports given included that of the chaplain, who announced that 1662 calls had been made; 487 bouquets distributed, and a large amount of money expended for various projects.

Drill team members announced that their organization's election had resulted in the selection of Bess Moberly, captain; Effie Hawley, manager; Ethel Lindsey, secretary. Social night will be observed December 13 at 8 p. m. in the hall, where cards will be in play. Sewing Circle will have an all day meeting December 14 in the home of Maude Brown, 322 Acacia street, Garden Grove. Members are requested to bring table service. There will be a gift exchange, in addition to a shower of jams and jellies for a holiday welfare project.

Camp and auxiliary will have covered-dish dinner December 27 at 6:30 p. m. in the hall. This will be a Christmas party.

Bridge Club Meets In Pretty New Home

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Hershey's attractive new home, 620 East Twentieth street, was scene of a bridge club party Tuesday night when Mrs. Hershey entertained. Since this was the group's first meeting in the home, a general inspection tour preceded the session of bridge. Winning prizes were Mrs. Everett Kingsbury and Dorcas Hendrie, who held the two highest scores. Special award went to Mrs. Hershey.

Others present were Mesdames Lucke, Everett Montgomery, Paul Patton, Warren Webb and Leo Lacy.

Mrs. Hershey concluded her hospitality by serving dessert at a prettily arranged table brightened with red tapers and potted cyprian.

College Events

Dance Plans
Plans for Jaycee's annual Christmas dance are now being formulated by social commissioner Phyllis Kogler and her assistants, the Misses Bettie Timmons, Lorraine Black, Maxine Wells and Eleanor Cogan.

The affair will be held Saturday, December 17 at Hotel Villa Riviera. Long Beach Tickets for Associated Students and alumni are priced at a nominal sum, but others will be asked a higher rate.

Initiation Rites
At a beautiful candlelight ceremony held Tuesday evening in the Art bungalow, initiates of Alpha Rho Tau, honorary art society, were formally received into the club. Miss Wanda Todd, acting as president, conducted the initiation. Election of officers was also held during the evening. Ronald Perry was elected president; Miss Wanda Todd, vice-president, and Miss Mary Elizabeth Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Autumn fruits and leaves decorated the lace-covered table from which hot chocolate, marshmallows and cup cakes were served. Miss Jo Butler had arranged the decorations, and the Misses Ida Marie Holland and Jean McAulay had planned the refreshments.

Club members present included the Misses Bettie Timmons, Mary Smith, Nadene Parker, Ellen Neal, Eileen Gowdy, Beverly Faus, June Swingle, Alice Shannon, Ray Anne Hiss, Maureen McClintock, Ethelyn Stuart, Jo Butler, Lucile Yensen, Ida Marie Holland, Marie Lee Brown, Wanda Todd, Ida Bergseter, Roberta Shafer, Lura Mae Kent, Dorothy Abbott and Winnie Wilton and the Messrs. Vernon Carlson, Leonard Brown, Ron Smith, Upton Pett, Baxter Smith, Leigh Birkland, Ronald Perry and William Talcott. Miss Frances Egge is club advisor.

Recruiting for the army does not show any increase in those parts of the country where employment is scarce, contrary to popular belief.

Church Societies

Missionary Group

With comforts to be knotted and quilts to be completed, members of United Presbyterian Aid society spent a busy morning yesterday in the church social rooms, as a preliminary to the appetizing luncheon served at noon, and the Missionary society meeting of the afternoon.

Mrs. Leonard Musick, Mrs. A. C. Hassenjager and Miss Martha Smith were hostesses serving the luncheon at tables where the Christmas spirit was expressed in pretty appointments.

Mrs. Cora Torrens presided over the Missionary society meeting of the afternoon, with Mrs. F. Barney leading in devotionals. Since India was the study subject, members heard with much interest, details of a trip to that country by the Rev. E. Dow Hoffman, pastor of Fullerton First M. E. church. The guest speaker was introduced by the Rev. A. E. Kelly, pastor of the host church, who spoke also on a recent conference held at Sialkot, India.

"Out of the Ivory Palaces" was an appropriate duet sung by Mrs. Will Lindsay and Mrs. W. H. Stevenson, with Mrs. Eleanor Fish as accompanist. Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. J. T. Raitt formed the program committee. Mrs. Raitt talked briefly on India, and Mrs. Stevenson read an article describing a conference held at Sialkot, India.

First Methodist

Women of First Methodist church held their Christmas program yesterday in the church social hall, beginning their activities with a 10 o'clock meeting. Women's Home Missionary society conducted by the president, Mrs. H. W. Guthrie.

The large Gothic door which is set up for these special occasions was opened to reveal "The Night Before Christmas" a scene arranged by Miss Mary Lamb, Miss Irma De Barr talked on "Peace and the World Today."

Mrs. Harry Hays, Mrs. Smith Boggs and Mrs. Blanche Owens formed a trio singing "Lo, How a Rose" and "Sleep, Sleep Noble Child," accompanied by Miss Lenore Tompkins.

Associated Women convened at 11 o'clock, with Mrs. Clarence Bond in charge. Mrs. Robert Horn gave a dramatic reading which Virginia Church had arranged on Tolstoy's "What Men Live By." Mrs. E. C. Franson conducted devotionals, and Zella M. Walters read a story, "The Perfect Peace."

Following luncheon served by Circle No. 6, Foreign Missionary society convened with Mrs. C. E. Lawrence in charge. Mrs. Horton Palmer talked on plans for observing the society's 70th anniversary. Junior college octet sang Brahms' "Lullaby" and "Sleep Thou My Jewel." One of the group, Ruth Alden, sang "It Came Upon a Midnight Clear." Providing a background for this program was the figure of an Indian Prince, standing near a Christmas tree.

Miss Agnes Dunn, returned missionary from India, talked of the far away land, displaying many interesting objects. Mrs. Harry Worley, whose subject was China, gave a detailed account of a conference of leading Chinese women which Madam Chiang Kai-shek called last spring at Kuling, China. Mrs. Worley presented each of the Methodist women with a window silhouette made in China.

First Baptist

Woman's society of First Baptist church honored World Wide Guild girls and Children's World Crusaders, together with their counselors Wednesday evening at a 6:30 o'clock dinner in the church social hall.

The holiday note was sounded with a snow scene and a brilliantly lighted tree on the stage. Autun-toned flowers with silver and red cellophane decked tables at which members and guests were seated.

Song service led by Mrs. Charles G. Nalle was concluded with the singing of "America." Two Guild members contributed to the dinner program. Miss Dorothy Brush playing piano accompaniment and Miss Barbara Jones singing a Christmas lullaby.

Mrs. P. G. Kilburn presented Mrs. Lee Bolin of Los Angeles in a reading, "The Flag that Grew." Mrs. George Lippincott, as counselor for the Crusaders, announced the "Story of Christmas in Other Lands," a pageant given by girls wearing appropriate costumes. Persia was represented by Miss Roberta McBurney; Finland, Miss Lila May Fink; Siberia, Elise Crouse; Czechoslovakia, Vera Echols; Bulgaria, Florence Martin. Miss Betty Vernon closed the feature by singing "Fair Lord Jesus." The Rev. Harry Evan Owings gave benediction.

Preceding the dinner, the industrial department conducted routine activities. Mrs. Russell Crouse was in charge of a Women's society business meeting. It was voted to assist Orange County Tuberculosis association December 15 in the sale of Christmas seals.

Coral, which looks like a plant but which really belongs to the family of animals known as polyps, was believed to be an insect for centuries.

Appropriate to Season Is Monday's Program For Ebell Women

Promising one of the most appropriate of all possible programs which Ebell society might offer its members at the beginning of the solemn beauty of the Yuletide, is that on "Madonnas in Art" which will be presented Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Mrs. Greta H. Crandall of South Pasadena.

As chairman of Art and Travel section of South Pasadena Women's club, Mrs. Crandall has appeared before innumerable California clubs and other groups, in a variety of lectures. But that on the Madonnas has proven one of the most popular. As she relates the story of this phase of painting down through the centuries, she illustrates the different periods with pictures or slides in the original colors. These are said to be works of art in themselves and show the development of the "Madonna in Art" from Cimabue (1240) through the renaissance to the present day.

The fact that in pursuing her study of this subject, Mrs. Crandall has traveled extensively abroad, and has seen for herself, every picture and art study she describes so fluently, adds value to her presentation.

Heightening the beauty of the program, will be a special musical feature, according to Mrs. Roy Shafer, chairman of the Ebell program committee. For Dr. John Henry Lyon, who numbers among his many duties, that of choir-master for South Pasadena Episcopal church, will present a boy soprano from the vested choir of that church. The lad will sing numbers appropriate to the season and to the theme of the program.

Bridge Playing Group Plans Events for Yule Season

Those vivid scarlet sweet peas that begin blooming at this season and hence have won the name of "Christmas sweet peas," blazed from the luncheon table yesterday where Mrs. Howard Rapp, 1816 Greenleaf, seated members of her Contract club for the enjoyment of a luncheon menu preliminary to an afternoon of bridge play.

The flowers were mingled with baby breath in a shallow bowl centering the table, but were no lovelier than the great round balls of golden yellow chrysanthemums which graced the living room for the afternoon's game. The message the cheerful scarlet flowers carried however, was continued by the interesting holiday plans made by club members.

These include the annual Christmas party itself on December 21, when Mrs. A. I. Mellett will be luncheon hostess in her home, 3240 North Park boulevard. Interest in the afternoon's contract play will be secondary to that of the gift exchange among members. No less interesting are plans for an evening meeting in the hill-top home of the George Sattlers. For this event, coming on the night of December 22, will be a special affair complimenting husbands of members.

Absences from the city and other party engagements kept several members from attending yesterday's pleasant affair, the absentees including Mesdames Will A. Flood of South Pasadena, R. C. Holmes, Leonard G. Swales, H. T. Dunning, Benjamin J. MacMullen and A. I. Mellett. Mrs. Rapp asked two guests, Mrs. Fred Rowland and Mrs. Edward M. Hall, to complete the tables in play composed of Mesdames George Sattler, Sara Johnston Haddon, Mark Lacy, Marguerite D. Borgmeyer and H. B. Van Dien. Mrs. Rowland scored high for the guests, with Mrs. Haddon, Mrs. Sattler and Mrs. Lacy making high scores among club members.

Roosevelt Faculty Feted At Chow Mein Luncheon

Roosevelt school faculty members were guests at a chow mein luncheon given Tuesday noon in the school library, with P. T. A. officers, executive board and grade mothers entertaining in this pleasant fashion.

Santa Claus, reindeer figures and miniature Christmas trees were charming features of the table decorations. Colorful Christmas balls holding tiny candles marked each place.

Following luncheon was an executive board meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. Herbert Klotzky.

Faculty members present were the principal, Miss Verna Wells, and the Misses Martha Wierick, Sada Mae MacCauley, Grace Jenkins, Gladys Campbell, Barbara Crawford, Margaret Grant, Pearl Camblin and Mrs. Hazel Hesselein.

Board members in the group were Mesdames Herbert Klotzky, C. Van Dusen, O. V. Barton, S. W. Elliott, Arthur Kittelson, Richard Howland, A. E. Kelly, W. D. McLaughlin, Howard Shugart, Harry McCormack, Veda Mac Palm and Richard Mett.

Grade mothers were Mesdames S. Patterson, R. S. Fink, Paul and Donald Dearth.

MILLS COLLEGE DINNER

An interesting account of the German Weinaachten dinner and program given Tuesday night in Mary Morse Hall at Mills College, has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Marshall, East Santa Clara avenue, whose daughter, Miss Helen Marshall, directed the chorus for the play featured on the program.

The event is given annually by the German department of Mills College, and invitation is always extended to the faculties of University of California and other northern colleges, as well as to friends of German students. Opening the dinner event was that traditional procession, led by Dr. Aurelia Henry Reinhardt, college president, and Dr. Bernard Blume, of the German department, in which each one carried a lighted taper in a rosy apple.

Educational Methods Of China Described For Girl Reserves

Education in the Orient was discussed in informative fashion by Miss Mary Musgrave at Monday night's joint meeting of Junior College and High School Girl Reserves, held in the Y.W. clubrooms.

Miss Musgrave, who taught in a girls' high school in China, could speak with authority on the subject, and held the close interest of her audience. She was honor guest at the dinner hour, when a typical Chinese menu was served, and guests ate with chopsticks. Tables were very attractive with conventional flower arrangements. Miss Betty Neff led in community singing.

Attending from junior college were the Misses Stella Christ, Helen Allison, Winola Barrett, June Winget, Madelyn McDonald, Betty Neff, Mabel Willis, Elizabeth Welsh, Annette Howard, Phyllis Gilbreath, Eleanor Clemens, Marjorie Edick, Jane Mathews, Ruth Sato, Peggy Paxton, Maxine Knight, Helen Hicks, Norma Area, Lucille Yensen, Marinel Deavers, Jean Brown, Agnes McKenna, Edna Uyeno, Barbara Traeger, Gladys Wilcox, Betty Lou Geiger, Ruth Ling, Verna Osborn, Jane Sterling, Barbara Robinson, Jackie Morrison, Helen Lowe, Virginia Freeman, Dorothy Newman, Dorothy Gross, Lucille Chandler and Lorraine Sweet and Mabel G. Whiting, college registrar.

Among those from high school were the Misses Mary Makel, Vernabelle Maroney, Lavonne Gold, Ruth Ames, Phyllis Brockbank, Barbara Brisco, Helen Westeen and Anita Wassen.

Miscellaneous Shower Added to Events For Frances Whitaker

Another affair was added to the list of bridal showers for Miss Frances Whitaker last night when Miss Martha Thompson entertained at her home, 1907 North Flower street. Her mother, Mrs. A. D. Thompson, assisted.

Miscellaneous gifts were presented to Miss Whitaker, whose marriage to Harold Taylor will take place December 18 in Smithfield, Ill., where the young couple plan to reside. Shower packages for the bride-elect were placed on a lace-spread table lighted with candles casting their glow on a small Christmas tree.

Other events of the evening were preceded by the game of Chinese checkers. Miss Betty Lou Marble and Miss Bertha Padias were rewarded for their high and low scores.

Miss Thompson and her mother observed a pink and white motif in serving refreshments at the evening's close. Their guests included the bride and groom, and her mother, Mrs. Lee Whitaker; Mesdames William A. Harris, Cleo Stone; the Misses Mary Lucille Walker, Almira Hitterdale, Dorothy Heil, Esther Belle Christian, Bertha Padias, Marjorie Tubach and Betty Lou Marble.

Having so recently taken possession of their attractive new home at 515 North Flower street, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Berkland last night discovered that a little group of their close friends were deeply interested in the home.

For the guests arrived for a gala house-warming party, all planned without the knowledge of their hosts. These plans included informal card play during the evening, climaxed with the serving of refreshments, thoughtfully provided by the party conspirators.

Their final gesture of friendliness was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Berkland of a Silax coffee pot as housewarming gift.

In the party with the surprised hosts were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Groomer, Mr. and Mrs. George Howlett, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Smith, all friends of many years' standing.

LACE GUILD
New patterns in lace intrigued Lace Guild members at the latest meeting at which they were guests of Mrs. William E. Porter, 412 South Parson street. All are working on dainty handkerchief and towel edges and other patterns suitable for Christmas gifts.

An interesting letter was read from Dr. Bertha Oxenius of Pomona, after which the Mincoff book, "Pillow Lace," was discussed. Mrs. Porter served tea and cookies late in the afternoon, to the little group of members able to be present. Mesdames Bessie Heinley, S. E. Cook and J. G. Hird.

HAS BABY A NASTY COLD?
Relieve the Misery As Most Mothers Do
Rub baby's back, chest, and throat with Vicks VapoRub and tuck him deep into bed. What a comfort to know that VapoRub goes to work right away to relieve the misery of his cold without "dosing"—without risk of stomach upsets. And what a comfort to know that long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub will still be working—two ways at once—direct through the skin like a poultice, and direct to the irritated air-passages with its medicated vapors. You'll find that the worst of the cold is over.

Dorcas Members Stage Enjoyable Yuletide Dinner Party

Santa Claus land was expressed Monday night in First Christian educational building where Dorcas club members to the number of more than half a hundred, gathered for their annual Christmas dinner.

They found a large Christmas tree shining with lights and gay ornaments in the center of the big room, ringed with prettily arranged tables, each of which was presided over by one of the evening's hostesses. These were Mesdames Esther Williams, chairman, Beverly Rimmel, Doris Bennett, Louise McGill, Zillah Wayland and Effie Lee.

Small trees fashioned from silver balls were spaced on the tables, and at each place was an attractive corsage fashioned from popcorn, cranberries and acorns wired to sprays of evergreen. These with countless scarlet candles, made a charming Yuletide scene, and the dinner menu completed the holiday idea.

Prominent among honor guests were Mrs. W. S. Buchanan, wife of the retiring pastor of the church, and Mrs. Gerald Bash, wife of the new pastor. Mrs. Buchanan presented Mrs. Bash to the Dorcas members. Invocation by Mrs. Dorothy Loughton was followed by the singing of various Christmas choruses.

Mrs. Ethel Becker presided over the business meeting at which time Mrs. Bessie Calhoun, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the list of nominees for office.

Unanimous vote returned Mrs. Becker to the presidency and with her, Mesdames Marie Steen, vice president; Beverly Rimmel, secretary; and Rosalie Bassett, treasurer. Closing the evening was the exchange of gifts, ushered in appropriately with a French Christmas carol, sung effectively by Mrs. Bassett with Mrs. Lillian Williams as accompanist.

Wives Of Medical Men Share Luncheon In Our Village

Hotel Laguna, down in "Our Village," was focal point Tuesday afternoon for members of Women's auxiliary to Orange County Medical association, when they staged a pleasant holiday luncheon in that pleasant spot.

Baby chrysanthemums in softly vivid colors added their charm to tables where members found places for the tempting menu served in advance of the program meeting. For this latter interval they were directed to the "ship salon" of the hotel from whose quaintly decorated interior they could look out over the sea.

Mrs. Hiram Currey, presided over the short business session during which winners in the cake sale were announced as Mrs. Currey herself and Mrs. Erwin H. W. Kersten of Anaheim. Mrs. K. H. Sutherland, program chairman, presented the day's guest speaker, Mona Summers Smith of the Santa Ana library. Mrs. Smith gave, in her inimitable fashion, a review of the play so cleverly lampooning national politics, "Id Rather Be Right."

The association had the pleasure of entertaining among special guests, Mrs. Bond, vice-president of the San Diego association, and Mrs. Lindemulder, first district counselor; Mrs. Bergman of Fullerton, and Mrs. Cooper, recently arriving from Peru to visit in the Fullerton home of Dr. and Mrs. Steen.

exchange of gifts, ushered in appropriately with a French Christmas carol, sung effectively by Mrs. Bassett with Mrs. Lillian Williams as accompanist.

SERIAL STORY
LOVERS AWEIGH

BY BETTY WALLACE
COPYRIGHT, 1938 NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS
JUDY ALCOFF—admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.
DWIGHT CAMPBELL—ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.
JACK HANLEY—flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.
MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

Yesterday, Judy drives Dwight to the pier after their turbulent meeting. Arriving home, her mother tells her she has been seen with Dwight, asks if he made love to her!

CHAPTER XXVII

JUDY'S face flamed. She cried angrily. "If we had anything to do, do you think we'd choose Navy Pier for a rendezvous?"

But her mother said, "Judy, I know you have never quite rid yourself of—of being foolish about Dwight. Please don't see him again. He's another woman's husband, and you are engaged to Jack."

"So you—even you—think that—?" Because it was true, because Dwight had made love to her, she was even more indignant than she might otherwise have been.

Mrs. Alcott's face clouded. She turned away silently. She had never quarreled with Judy. She simply stopped discussing things. Judy felt cheated, helpless. You couldn't argue with a person who simply went out of the room. You couldn't change Mother's knowledge. She knew. She knew.

The next morning she went to the hospital as usual. Jack was in a wheel chair. "How'm I doing?" he asked happily. "Boy, a few more days, and I'll be walking! Walking right out of here."

JUDY was honestly glad that he was better. But she dreaded his homecoming, now, after what had happened. A week after he got out, they had planned to be married. A week. Suppose he got out in a few days? Queer how all the certainty had left her, just because she saw Dwight again. The serene contentment, the quiet happiness that she had experienced in this room with Jack, contemplating their future, had evaporated. There was nothing now but the old uncertainty, the same endless doubts, whirling in her mind, never getting anywhere. Commander Sloane dropped in, to pass the time of day. He said, "Pretty soon you'll have your cavalier home, Judy." But in his shrewd eyes was a gleam that told her he, too, had heard the gossip. It didn't take long to travel! It was like leaping flame. Five minutes after a thing happened, every house on the station was ringing with it.

After the doctor went out again, Jack tugged at the heavy Academy ring on his finger. "We ought to do this right," he said. "I'd like you to wear my class ring. At least until I get out and we can pick out a diamond ring—whatever you want—"

Judy thought of the square, emerald-cut diamond that Marvel had worn. Everyone said maliciously that Dwight's pay had never paid for it.

She said, "I—I don't want a diamond ring, Jack."

"Diamonds aren't Navy," he said. "But I thought maybe you like them. They're your birthstone. April." He remembered all the little things, she thought, in a sudden wave of tenderness. The colors she liked best, and that she preferred sweetpeas to gardenias. Her birthday. All the dear, unimportant little trifles that because they concerned her were important to him. She wondered wearily if Dwight so much as knew exactly how old she was. He probably didn't.

SHE hugged Jack impulsively, and then put her hand out while he slipped the ring on her third finger. It was far too large. The heavy gold mounting slid to one side. She said shakily, "I'll have to wrap string around it to make it fit."

He touched her chin, and then his lips were pressing down on hers. While he kissed her, she thought steadily, "I'll never do anything to make him unhappy. He's too fine. Too trusting and unsuspecting." But the kiss Dwight Campbell had given her yesterday burned on her lips even while Jack Hanley's mouth touched them.

Wearing the ring, Judy went to Magda Hamilton's cocktail party. It wasn't really a party—just a bunch of people coming in informally for a drink. Two or three times a week, Magda telephoned everybody she knew and said, "Come over."

It didn't take long for the sharp eyes of the wives to spot Jack's class ring. "Judy!" they squealed. "Oh, how sweet! I'm so glad, darling."

This, Judy told herself, made it official. Irrevocable. She was engaged to Jack Hanley. She was his. She wanted it to be positive. She didn't want to be able to draw back.

"As if I were safeguarding myself from backsliding," she thought. But it was true. She couldn't trust herself. Even her pride had come dangerously near crumbling, that moment in the car when Dwight took her in his arms.

IF Jack were out of the hospital, able to spend most of his time with her, it would have been easier. But there were so many empty hours in which to think! And her thoughts were treacherous. They were all of Dwight.

She was not really surprised when he telephoned her, two nights after she had worn the ring to Magda's. It was as if she had expected his voice. He said, "Judy, may I come over?"

"I—I don't think Mother—" she said guardedly into the phone.

"I'm losing my mind!" he said. "I've moped around on the ship until I never want to see it again. I must talk to you. Surely there's no harm in our taking a ride together, or going to a movie?" Then he said swiftly, "No, not a movie. Some place where we can—just talk—"

He was lonesome. Lost. The empty white house with its cruel memories; the unfriendly ship and the men who knew that Marvel had left him.

"I know how you feel," she said. "But I—I can't get away."

"Please, Judy! It means so much to me!"

"I mustn't," she said, wanting to go.

"You could just get into the car, as if you were going for a drive by yourself. I could meet you in town."

No. No. That would make truth out of all the lies people had said. It would corroborate every whisper; breathe life into every ugly conjecture. Yet she wanted to go.

He kept pleading with her. "I'm like an outcast," he said. "Like a pariah. Nobody talks to me. Nobody cares—Oh, Judy, just for a few minutes, couldn't you see me?"

So in the end, even though she knew it was wrong and that she had no right to go while she wore Jack's ring, she said, "I'll be at the same corner, in ten minutes."

Our Children

GIVE THE GIRL A CHANCE

Here is a problem that faces many a mother at least once in a lifetime: "I have to go to the hospital and remain there for at least a month if not more. My daughter, aged eighteen, wants to take charge of the household during my absence. I thought I would have my sister come, but my daughter and she never got along well. There are three younger children, all in school. I don't know what to do to be wise."

I would vote to give daughter a chance. First because it is always best for a family to be self-contained and self-helpful. If it is at all possible for the children and father to get along together without the presence of a relative, however loved, it is best for them to do so. The experience knits them together. They learn more of each other and learn to value each other's good points as well as to discount the less happy ones. By all means let the family see it through by themselves.

A girl of eighteen is in the first flush of womanhood. She is eager to do for her family, eager to show them how well she can manage in her mother's place. Feeling herself at the head of the family gives her the dignity and the self-appreciation that she needs at this time. The actual work, the actual responsibility will be an experience worth all it costs.

Mothers ought not to wait for emergencies like this before giving their older daughters a chance to carry household responsibility. All girls, no matter what place they intend to occupy in the working world, should know how to manage a household. The only way they will ever learn is by actually taking hold and doing the job. If mother can go away for a time, so much the better, because the experience will be more practical. It is better not to have mother on hand when a question about how much baking powder, or what temperature the oven is needed. A few burned biscuits are allowed every beginner, and until the allowance has been burned there is little chance of the perfect ones appearing.

One more suggestion that arises from my experience with such situations. When daughter is married and goes to her own home, let her have it all her way. Stay out. No matter if she doesn't know how to buy groceries, or make a pie, or flavor the soup. Stay out. Stay out until you are invited, and then don't be too eager to accept the invitation. Make yourself so scarce that your presence will be something to talk about.

Young people need to be left alone to learn about their own business. They have to learn first to get on with each other, and that is better learned without on-lookers. They need to fit themselves into the new scheme of living; that calls for first-hand experiences. Mistakes will not be so bitter if there is nobody to say, "Why didn't you do as I told you?"

Give the girl a chance. Start early to share the house with her. Learn early that she is a person in her own right, ready to carry her share of the world's work. Get out of her way and so help her mightily.

Mr. Patri has prepared a new booklet (No. 303) entitled, "Eating," in which he explains the art of serving food to children and offers solutions to the problems involved. Send for it, enclosing ten cents. Address your request to Mr. Angelo Patri, the Bell Library, on this newspaper, 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y.

IRVINE

IRVINE, Dec. 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Al Newton have been enjoying a visit from Mrs. Newton's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hammer, of Pine City, Minn.

Dr. and Mrs. Ervin L. Watkins, of Laguna Beach, are the parents of a son, born the past week at St. Joseph's hospital. Mrs. Watkins before her marriage was Vera McDonald.

Ruth Stutsman, of Tustin, and Harper Housley, of Orange, were dinner guests of Betty Boosey Sunday evening.

Mrs. W. Mitchell, of Newport Heights, spent Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Veeh.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Daugherty, of Munger road, are building a new home on their place to be occupied by Mrs. Daugherty's sister, Mrs. Lida Jones and children.

SUCCESS STORY

America still is the land of opportunity. The story of Gargantua the Great, is a case in point. Seven years ago he was a baby gorilla in a $3 wooden cage in the hold of a ship on his way to America. He didn't amount to much. He had no name.

Today he is sailing the high seas on his way to England in a $20,000 air-conditioned cage aboard a luxury cruiser. He will travel by the southern route, which though longer is much more likely to be conducive to a smooth trip. His name, Gargantua, is widely known throughout the country and he has grown in height and weight. Experience in the circus here has qualified him to appear in London.

His life for the last seven years simply proves what a young gorilla who behaves himself can do in America.

Of course he doesn't have to pay any taxes and he's not subject to the provisions of the Wagner Act.

Oh, for the life of a gorilla.

SPORT AND EDUCATION

There is a strange voice in the academic shadows. It speaks of sport and education in distinct tones, but the words are unusual indeed.

"All subjects should be taught in the same way as athletics and the system of giving grades in school subjects should be abolished since, as in athletics, it is the results that count."

Sounds like a football coach, linked by the tradition that holds many a scholar to an age old routine.

But wait. "Because a student gets a grade of 85 per cent in a language under the present educational system, it doesn't mean that he knows that much, but simply that the teacher's score in catching him in mistakes is 5 per cent."

"You can't interrupt a boy playing football by teaching him the history of the sport. He isn't interested in getting a Phi Beta Kappa in the subject because the results are obvious."

That was no football coach speaking, but Dr. John Erskine, an internationally known author and for 35 years professor of English at Columbia University. He was addressing a foreign language conference of 200 teachers and public school administrators sponsored by New York University.

THE RIGHT FOUNDATION

Before Congress really gets down to work on the rearmament program, it is to be hoped that its members will appreciate the fact that, in a military sense, America today is in the position of England during the 19th century.

Which is to say that America today is an insular nation, its true defense lies on the sea. Just as England was protected by its "moat" until the modern bombing plane rendered the moat useless, so today America is protected by its own moat—The Atlantic and Pacific oceans. And no military program the nation can devise is worth paying for unless it is founded on that simple fact.

Modern armaments take three forms—land, sea and air. And an insular nation must approach its defense problems from a different angle than a nation which does not enjoy the protection of the sea.

A nation which can keep its enemies from getting near its frontiers does not need a strong frontier guard. A small, mobile force that can be rushed quickly to any danger spot is all it needs in the way of frontier defense.

For the simple, geographical fact that any possible enemy must cross the ocean before it can get at him gives Uncle Sam the chance to hold all enemies at arm's length—provided that he maintains the right kind of fleet, backed with an adequate air force.

This is an extremely important fact in relation to the prospects for American democracy. For a nation which must prepare in the European manner, with conscription of man power and regimentation of industry inevitably must surrender some of its liberties—as the French are learning today, to their sorrow. But a sea power can have security without paying that price.

We do not need a huge army, we do not need conscription, we do not need any of the grandiose plans for regimenting men, industry and money which have been discussed of late. Since we do not need those things, we can give ourselves full security without infringing on our political and economic liberties.

Above everything else, it is important that Congress remember that when it goes ahead with the rearmament program.

PESSIMISM IN WASHINGTON

(L. A. Examiner by Geo. Rothwell Brown)

As the New Deal becomes enshrouded in pessimism—today's phenomenon in Washington—the dark cloud it did not without its silver lining for industry.

When Leon Henderson puts the total of the nation's unemployment at 10,569,000, after six years of costly dalliance along the economic primrose path, it is a confession of failure.

When he declares that, as things now stand, "our economic growth has stopped," it represents a return to realism by one of the most ardent of the Utopian experimenters.

What has happened within the New Deal is a sudden sickening realization that it was a mistake to place social reform ahead of economic recovery, that now first consideration must be given to recovery, social reform to follow when and if it can.

It need not be pointed out that this is a complete reversal of New Deal philosophy.

Henderson has been talking to the O'Mahoney monopoly committee these past few days, not as the ardent New Deal propagandist, which he has been since his Blue Eagle days with the erstwhile preacher of economic death for dissenters, Gen. Hugh Johnson, but as the cold-blooded economic scientist.

Sharing The Comforts Of Life

By R. C. Hoiles

STEALING, THE CAUSE OF THE DEPRESSION

Inasmuch as most all Sunday school classes recently had a lesson on the crime of stealing, it makes it an opportune subject for discussion and I doubt very much whether many of the classes recognized the kind of stealing that usually goes on nowadays.

It is not the stealing of the individual that is a serious thing confronting us, but it is the stealing of one group from another group that is wrecking our character and our prosperity. Some of the gigantic steals that have brought on a condition that causes some 10 million people to be out of work are:

1. The taxing system that permits the majority to steal from the minority and give nothing in return.
  2. The banking system that permits bankers to misuse bank credit and loan the wealth of other people and receive the interest for this wealth.
  3. Collective bargaining that prevents people from competing in the production and, thus, forces those outside of the unit to give more energy for what the collective bargaining gives them and free exchange would give.
  4. Tariffs and prorate that interfere with free exchanges and compel other nations and other producers to give more than they normally would, if it were not for the interference of tariffs and prorate.
  5. The Wagner Law that prevents the slow man from having the right to sell his services on the same basis that the rapid worker does.
  6. The Minimum Wage Law that does the same thing.
  7. The Maximum Hour Law that prevents the man with energy from selling as much of his energy as he desires to sell.
  8. And probably the most important, the man who steals the character of other people by selling envy, covetousness and hate by advocating pleasant illusions to help the worker when he can not answer questions as to how they can be worked. This man is probably largely responsible for all the other stealings that have been going on.
- He is the man about whom Jesus told the Scribes and Pharisees that, "They say and do not. For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers. But all their works they do for to be seen of men."
- These are the Pharisees in churches, in schools, in political offices who have gradually and creepingly brought about these habits of stealing on a large scale so subtly that the great mass of people do not realize what has happened to them.

WHY MORE CAPITAL IS BENEFICIAL

The other day I attempted to explain to a correspondent why we need more capital. I want to add another reason that was not included in the original article.

That is, the more capital we have bidding against each other for the services of labor, the higher the natural and permanent wages of the worker can be; that any wage that is artificial and is not the result of competition between enterprisers or capitalists for labor only takes the wages from another person and does not at all raise wages as a whole.

Few people realize that the wages of all workers as a whole can only be as high as the poorest tools which have to be used in order to furnish employment for all workers; that the profit on the better tools belongs to capital, which is former labor and not current labor. It, thus, follows that every time we have better capital so that the least efficient tools can be discarded, this raises the wages of all workers who are using the more efficient tools. So the importance of discarding inefficient tools, with which labor is able to produce only a small amount of wealth, is of the utmost importance because it makes possible and actually results in raising the wages of all workers. Any other raising of wages by law, or by emotion, or by force, or by coercion, only interferes with the raising of all wages, or the lowering of special groups to the advantage of those favored.

SIGNS OF CANDIDACY

When you hear a man advocating generous pensions of one kind or another, you can mark it down that he soon expects to be a candidate for some political office.

and Richard C. Patterson Jr. of New York, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, who talks the language of business men, are emerging to the fore as the new exponents of sensible government, in its relationship to business.

They have won the confidence of the business community. It is now up to them to win over the President, still under the persuasive influence of the extreme left wing group, headed by Harry Hopkins and Thurman Arnold.

The good work that Hanes and Patterson have been doing in the business world, has been done without ballyhoo and without publicity.

They are not politicians. Neither, for that matter, are Hopkins and Arnold, although the former probably thinks he is.

Hanes and Patterson, moreover, are not politically ambitious, but are trying to serve the country, and that's unique too.

Henderson isn't kidding himself any more. He doesn't believe in the old familiar New Deal brand of sugar-coated pills.

All this is gain. If Mr. Roosevelt can be convinced that economic recovery must be put ahead of social reform, the battle is won. But that's a tough assignment!

Another pessimist in Washington today is John L. Lewis, the big boss man of C. I. O. He isn't as cocksure about things as he was. He is in a receptive mood for ideas, for Lewis—incidentally, he puts the total of unemployment today at 13 million—is beginning to suspect that the plans of the theorists can't put Americans back to work.

Is Henderson right in saying that as things now stand "our economic growth has stopped?"

Lewis understands what Henderson means. Let us look at his own bituminous coal industry, for example. In addition to the 10 or 13 millions of unemployed, some 690,000 miners of the United Mine Workers, John L. tells this writer, will average for 1933 less than 3 days' work a week.

Moreover, the new bituminous coal commission, which has been sweating blood since March, will present a new price structure in soft coal in March, about a month before the existing wage agreements expire.

There is blood on the moon, for this price structure is going to stop the practice by which the railroads today are BUYING COAL AT LESS THAN PRODUCTION COST.

Already struggling to make both ends meet, the railroads are about to be soaked for higher fuel costs. Yes, pessimism in Washington is a good sign. America has dwelt long enough in a fool's paradise. The new signal is for a little bit of reality.

Wait Till the Dies Committee Hears About This!

AN INTERNATIONAL AGENT WITH HEADQUARTERS CLOSE TO SOVIET RUSSIA—

OPENLY OPPOSED TO THE PROFIT MOTIVE, AND FLOODING THE COUNTRY WITH PROPAGANDA—

RESPONSIBLE FOR THE FOMENTING OF PLOTS AND SECRET ACTIONS IN COUNTLESS AMERICAN HOMES—

General Hugh S. JOHNSON SAYS—

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The "overtures" testimony in the monopoly investigation showed how much had been "lost" by everybody because business has never recovered its pre-depression level.

The rate of business in 1929 and before was the result of a free economy acting as the American system had always acted during the 140 years during which it built up the most prosperous community in the shortest space of time in history. It came an awful cropper due to the excessive private lending, spending and debt.

The thought, which you gave in a bit of verse by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, "I gave a beggar from my little store of well earned gold," is typical of what we are endeavoring to accomplish. It is heartening to know that others feel as we do, that it is the best way to serve those in need.

I realize that you are very busy and have many demands upon your time but I wonder if you wouldn't find it interesting and educational to meet some morning between 7:30 and 8:00, while we gather for a little chapel service. Pastors and laymen often meet with us and present an inspirational or educational talk. By so doing you would have a splendid opportunity of seeing for yourself the type of people we employ and the nature of the work. No one can see the work of Goodwill Industries and not be deeply impressed with its worth-whileness. Something that means $16,000.00 a year in wages to some thirty-five people, such as we employ, each day, really means big business. The balance of our earnings, approximately $10,000 is spent in Orange County for rents, utilities, insurance, truck expense and small purchases necessary to our operation.

Thank you again.

Very sincerely,

GEO. F. ANGE.

Fellow Citizens:

The steadily increasing number of cures claimed by Mr. Rockwell in the Dec. 5 Register clearing house for the great Townsend plan will soon place the Townsend plan way out in front with the vegetable compounds and Little Liver Pills.

The perfect score of cures claimed by Mr. Rockwell, whom I quote in part, leaves nothing to be desired in the way of our economic or social well-being—if true.

Mr. Rockwell says in part, referring to a previous editorial: "he has had ample time to acquire such understanding, but evidently prefers to stay, stuck in the mud with exploded false conceptions of the plan, that will open the way to real living conditions and permanent prosperity, in harmony with 'peace on earth and good will to men,' instead of the hellish, greedy system that now threatens world peace with war, Fascism, Communism, Nazism, riot and rebellion, with fruitless false motions by governments to establish peace through experiments that prove to be mere wanderings up blind alleys, based on wrong, selfish motives."

When I was a boy in Sunday School, the lesson of the Golden Rule, I believe that business has nothing to fear from this inquiry. I think it will prove what we all know—that, except for the "ten per cent" cheating "fringe" and a few more spots, the organization and practices of business are better for our people than any theoretical or political substitute for them could possibly be.

Just the same, until that is clear, business will remain stalled. The answer to the question: "Why doesn't business resume 1929 activity?" is easy. It is: "Because Government won't permit it."

As has been repeated in this

HEAD OF A GIGANTIC ESPIONAGE RING, WITH FILES ON MILLIONS OF AMERICANS—

LARGELY FINANCED AND AIDED BY MEMBERS OF CLUBS IN EVERY STATE OF THE UNION—

PLANNING TO ENTER THE U.S. ILLEGALLY AND UNDER COVER OF DARKNESS—THE NIGHT OF DEC. 24TH!

Editor Register:

I want you to know that I deeply appreciate the splendid editorial in behalf of "Goodwill Industries" which you ran in your paper on November thirtieth.

I must confess that it came at a time when I really needed a boost to my morals. The past several weeks have been unusually difficult for our industry and it has been discouraging to feel that our efforts were not bringing results sufficient for our need; and, apparently, no one seemed to care. Hence, your article was timely.

The Townsend plan has an enormous following, yet the great organization is held together by the people who contribute, and the hope of reward promised by its founder.

As I am also one of those who "do not understand the plan," it might be more to the point for Mr. Rockwell, instead of feeling a sort of superior person and gloating over mine and others' ignorance to impart a few gems of knowledge concerning the much discussed plan. So far all I have read from him is the argument that the Townsend plan opponents do not understand the plan. If he has any light on the subject, that is not common knowledge, he should not be hiding his light under a bushel. Let us have the details.

Mr. Rockwell stands in a way to become a great benefactor, if he can enlighten the public as to the working of any plan which will "open the way to real living conditions and permanent prosperity in harmony with 'peace on earth and good will to men.'"

Let's have the details please.

Vocational Guidance May Help Pupils' Physical and Mental Disturbances

If a student in college keeps relatively free from sickness, keeps up his work, sticks to his courses, gets along with teachers and classmates and does not betray a serious quirk of behavior, he is considered to be a normal college student. Many students vary in some of these particulars. Dr. Harry M. Tiebout points out that these deviations should be looked for by any director of student health because they may carry them on to the point where they will ruin the life and the career of the person concerned.

Everyone knows that a healthy body is desirable for a healthy mind. Enough sleep, suitable diet, exercise and regular living help to make a healthful life. In most colleges there is at least a dispensary and a physician available for the minor illnesses and anything more may be referred to the family doctor.

Frequently there are serious new strains put on the student without adequate consideration of the ability of his health to withstand them. The student who has been compelled to be absent because of illness may, because of his endeavor to catch up, submit himself to a mental schedule that is not suitable to health. Sometimes it is better to repeat an entire course than to submit a student to such a strain.

Among the college students, as well as among the population generally, there are some people who are much more inclined to be ill

A Warning to Face Right

By ERIK MCKINLEY ERIKSSON
Professor of History, University of Southern California

As Congress is scheduled to meet within a few weeks this appears to be an appropriate time to review the results of the November elections with a view to discussing what bearing they may have upon the future activities of the federal government.

Though a month has now passed since the people registered their choices at the polls, many have hardly recovered from their amazement at the results. Neither the most optimistic conservatives nor the most pessimistic New Dealers expected such large gains for the former. Usually in an off-year election, the party out of power makes substantial gains. Of course, this did not happen in 1934, but this was the exception which proves the rule. The 1938 elections, however, produced such gains for the "outs" that they cannot be explained as merely the result of a normal reaction against the party in power.

The real significance of the elections is that the country has become tired of experimentation which has failed to solve the pressing economic problems resulting from the great depression. In no sense were the election results victories for extreme conservatism or reaction. They were, nevertheless, a warning to the administration to face the right instead of pursuing a course of radical reform under the guise of liberalism.

Apparently, the majority of the people are willing to support a program that is truly liberal—a middle of the road program—but they are losing patience with those administration leaders who have been seeking to force the nation far to the left. Most Americans are far more desirous of economic recovery than they are of being made over in accordance with a pattern devised by misnamed liberals who have dominated the scene in the national capital.

To interpret the election results as a repudiation of the President is hardly warranted. His popularity has declined but it is obvious that the majority of the people are still in favor of him personally. But it is also obvious that the majority wish him to steer to the right. No other reasonable interpretation can be made of the election statistics which show that, outside of the Solid South, the Republicans polled more votes than did the Democrats. This is a reasonable view to take of the facts that the Republicans gained over eighty seats in the House of Representatives, that, in addition, they captured fourteen state governorships while losing only three.

By these gains the Democrats have reestablished themselves as a potent factor in politics. This does not mean that they will be able to force the repeal of obnoxious New Deal measures. The New Dealers, aided by the power of the President to veto bills which he does not like, will be strong enough to prevent their program from being undone. By working in the independent Democrats, who will be numerous in the Seventy-third Congress, the Republicans can hope, at best, to prevent more radical reforms from being approved by the national legislature.

In order to prevent two years of dead-lock, a spirit of compromise will be needed in Washington. The period of "must" legislation and "rubber stamp" members of Congress is in the past. Congress promises once more to become a deliberative body, performing its constitutional function of determining the policies of the national government instead of delegating its powers to the Chief Executive.

As a reaction to the election results and as an indication of the general belief that the federal government will be forced to face to the right have been the evidences of economic recovery during recent weeks. A continuation of the trends will help ease the unemployment problem which should make unnecessary such large expenditures as in the past.

In any case the new Congress is not likely to take the President any more blank checks for relief purposes. Furthermore, in all probability, a determined effort will be made to take the W.P.A. out of politics. All in all, the next few months will be an interesting period.

News Behind The News

By PAUL MALLON
World Copyright 1933 by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Another ring-around-a-rosy game is going on inside about federal bank controls. It looks like Chairman Eccles of federal reserve is going to be the rosy this time.

Eccles appears to have authored a memo recommending a change in the existing examination system among other things. That is, it appears so to some officials here, but not to all. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau said at a press conference he had such a memo, but federal reserve officials previously denied its existence. Mr. Eccles probably prepared it alone, without even the knowledge of his publicity adviser, and gave it to the President and Mr. Morgenthau. At any rate, guarded secret though it is, it recommends abolition of Mr. Morgenthau's bureau of comptroller of currency; work of bank examinations to be divided between FDIC and FRB.

Mr. Morgenthau doesn't like it. Some federal reserve members who were not in on it, do not like it. Securities Exchange Chairman Douglas does not like it, and furthermore he does not like the resentment shown by federal reserve in the Giannini case. Maybe he should have consulted federal reserve before he acted in that case, but he had his reasons.

Involved also, if not more so, is the Eccles spending policy versus Morgenthau budget worrying policy.

It all sounds very complicated and it is; as are all personal squabbles among government officials pulling strenuously their own opposing ways. But it is as real and earnest as life itself under the real deal.

Whatever comes out of it probably will not include Mr. Eccles' head. The odds, however, heavily favor a Morgenthau policy victory all along the line. (You will remember he was the rosy last time The 1937 depression caused Mr. Roosevelt to switch to a spending policy at the last minute just before congress convened.)

Roosevelt's talk at Chapel Hill may be interpreted as just another speech. It sounded that way, but not if you have the proper official earphones.

The story he told about the Georgia friend who came in to chew over the tobacco and cotton situations, for example, was not the off-hand allusion which the casual text implied. Tobacco and cotton referendums are scheduled for Dec. 10 and 14, respectively. Agriculture Secretary Wallace has been making a super-super effort to roll up an impressive majority in favor of restrictive quotas.

Whole speech is regarded generally here as a carefully conceived political document, revealing the President's intention to go right through with the next congress, with added caution, therefore, more skill.

Tales of German-Italian undermining at the Lima conference came here in official diplomatic pouches before they arrived press rate. These confidential accounts confirmed the later dispatches indicating the Germans are trying to break down Latin American protective measures.

Some officials think that, in a way, Mr. Roosevelt let down his guard for this attack by announcing his purpose of promoting continental defense before the conference. He enabled the dictatorial underminers to arouse Latin suspicions of an American conquest. Again, they say, a democracy has hurt itself with straightforwardness, while the dictators continue their secret practices.

It probably will not prove to be important.

You may lay even money retiring Gov. Murphy of Michigan will be in the federal administration somewhere, probably in the attorney general's chair.

An active inner campaign in his behalf for the job has aroused some friends of Solicitor General Bon Jackson, who think he should have it.

Thomas Corcoran, the one and only senator without a seat, strolled into the Morgenthau cloister with a friend whose identity no one would reveal. Newsmen, as usual, went to the clockroom, looked into his hat. They found the initials, "W. J. C." Searching through their memories and who's who they could discover no hint of who it might be. They appealed to Morgenthau, but he said the visit was confidential.

Newsmen suspect dirty work at the hatrack. They have an idea that prominent men are borrowing hats from obscure friends before calling on the treasury secretary.

who has been pushed into medicine and who is not at all interested in medicine, but who would prefer English literature or philosophy. There is the theology student who realizes that he has no real call for this vocation and who ought to be either in business or in science. Frequently the aid of an educator in selecting for the student a course suitable to his aptitude brings about a recovery from his physical and mental disturbances.

"SAMPLE DAY," SPEECHES AND NOVELTIES MARK CLUB MEETING

"Sample Day," with members displaying the products of their occupation, and a brief address on "Our Cherished American Rights" by Miss Ann Bell, winner in a contest sponsored by the American Legion post of Santa Ana, were the highlights of the regular meeting of the Santa Ana Kiwanis club yesterday at the Masonic Temple.

First prize for the best display screen, of his company's merchandise went to W. D. Ranney, president of the Excelsior Creamery Company. Clyde Rowland, with a display showing the latest type of signs and sign painting, won second place.

Wins By Proxy!

Short craft talks were made by Wilbur Barr, who gave a verbal picture of the modern lumber yard, A. G. Allen, who told of recent advancement in the growing and selection of nursery citrus stock, and Clyde Rowland, who gave an explanation of new methods of sign painting.

George S. Smith was program chairman for the day and introduced the speakers.

"Every Winter Had Terrible Colds"

Nurse's Grateful Letter
"I want to thank you for the wonderful cough and cold medicine, BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE. I bought the first bottle last winter, for the old gentleman whom I am taking care of, for he had had terrible colds every winter. The first dose helped and after the third dose cold was gone—it does such quick work."—Mrs. C. Davis.
Don't take chances, for even the most stubborn, racking cough swiftly yields to the powerful influence of BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE (triple acting), the largest selling medicine for coughs, colds and bronchitis in all of cold Canada. Lionel Atwill, Leon Ames, Douglas Dumbrille, and Robert Lowry, a youngster who has done much fine work in obscure bits that he has been rewarded with the romantic lead in this picture. The five character men—great actors all—had lines to speak and actions to perform. Lowry stood, speechless and motionless throughout the entire scene. Afterward I congratulated Peter Lorre on the fashion in which he had handled his seemingly difficult assignment. "Why not congratulate the actor who had the hardest job to do?" he continued. "The most difficult scene any actor has to play is one in which he does nothing."
Chatted with Tony Martin on the "Winner Take All" set and of course, asked him "What news?" And a moment's thought, he produced from his pocket a telegram dated from New York and handed it to me with a rueful smile. "I received this from Alice (Mrs. Martin is Alice Faye, just in case this column strays to Patagonia where they haven't heard) when we started this picture. It's still commonplace to us, but since the newspapers insist on rumormongering that we're on the verge of a break-up, maybe it should rate as news." The wire read: "Darling—know you will make your role a success. All my love, Alice."

On the "Jones Family" set, Director Mal St. Clair was tearing his hair. With the cameras set up for work, his juvenile players, one after another, had been commanded for the three hours of schooling required by state law. "We'll change the schedule and do a scene with Florence Roberts," he ruled in desperation. "I guess the school board has no authority over 'Granny.'" But "Granny" was missing and stayed missing for a good ten minutes. "Where were you?" demanded St. Clair when she finally returned to the set. "In the schoolroom," she beamed, "learning to diagram a sentence. Would you believe it—in all my life, I'd never learned to do that!" Poor Mal just shook his head.

With the last scene of "Wife, Husband and Friend" in the can, Director Gregory Ratoff was giving a rip-roaring party for the cast and crew. After various members of the troupe had entertained, the one and only Ratoff took the floor. "My Frants," he shouted. "I will tich you to s-s-s-ing a Rooshan song. Ven I stamp, you will all shout 'Hay—joot Hay—the first letter in the halfabet—Hay!'"

422 NORTH SYCAMORE

Exterior Of New L. A. Dickey Furniture Store

Gleaming, dazzling white, the exterior of the L. A. Dickey Furniture Company, 1408-10 North Main street, shown above, is a fine example of semi-modern construction that combines utility with grace and beauty. Deeply set back from the curb, window shoppers at the Dickey company are enabled to view either of the large front windows in their entirety. Construction of the new home of the Dickey company was designed with an eye to making possible the greatest visibility and utility of floor space in keeping with good construction. "In the design of the exterior of the building that will house the Dickey Furniture Company we have kept in mind that the building will be constantly in the public eye and have tried to make it a thing of beauty and a credit to the community," L. A. Dickey, store owner and manager said today.

"We always will do our utmost to make our window displays fit the varied tastes of our patrons. Anything that we may do at any time to improve the appearance of our displays will be accomplished with the greatest willingness and speed and suggestions of patrons are welcomed."

Interior Of City's New Home Furnishings Mart

Illustrative of the enormous stock carried by the L. A. Dickey company, 1408-10 North Main street, is the picture of a part of the interior of the new establishment shown above. The store will hold a formal opening tomorrow as completely new supplies of all types and kinds of household furnishings have been placed on display. While the Dickey company will feature the sale of lamps, rugs, living room, dining room and bed room sets, a full stock of decorative articles and home furnishings will also be presented to the public tomorrow.

Displays of furniture in the Dickey establishment have been so placed to give the patron a maximum of opportunity to take in the stock at a glance and at the same time provide easy access to each piece of merchandising for close inspection. Walls and ceiling of the Dickey store have been finished in light colors and an expensive lighting system has been installed so that every article on display will be subjected to the close scrutiny of the prospective buyer.

Basic floor covering is a dark colored linoleum over which has been placed rugs and carpets that will be in harmony with the furniture and lamps on display.

DICKEY STORE SET FOR OPENING TOMORROW

PREPARATIONS ARE COMPLETED FOR GALA PREMIER OF MART

With final preparations completed, L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the Dickey Furniture Company, today announced the formal opening of the city's new furniture mart at 1408-10 North Main street, tomorrow. "Special merchandising displays and room settings will accompany the debut of the concern."

Completely new and built to house the Dickey Furniture company the building constructed for Dickey today stands as a monument to the perseverance and industry of one of the county's pioneer business men.

Stress Sets
Every type of home furnishing will be included in stock that fills the huge establishment to the very doors and special prices have been set for the many patrons and friends who have signified their intention of attending the premier of the concern.

Particular stress has been placed on lamps, living room, dining room, and bedroom sets, and floor coverings, in the selection of the Dickey company stock.

Just in time for Christmas shopping, complete new line of smart, up-to-the-minute designs in dining room furniture has been brought in for the gala opening. In the modern manner, interchange of design on the new styles will be given prominence both in modern

Full Stock
Designed and simulated textures are still "the big thing" in floor coverings and the Dickey company has arranged special displays of rugs, carpet, and throw rugs that will be in keeping with the latest ideas of interior decorators of the nation. Borderless rugs continue to be strong in the choice of the buying public and to meet this demand a full stock of sizes and textures have been secured for the opening tomorrow.

"Customer Satisfaction"
Basing their buying on the premise that furniture for the home ought to be "homey," Owner Dickey and his sales manager Guy H. Grigg, felt that no home is complete without mirrors. The universal acceptance of mirrors has had a tendency to deprive the public of their extraordinary values and with this in mind the Dickey company will carry a full supply of mirrors.

As in all of his dealings with the public of Santa Ana and Orange county, L. A. Dickey laid

DICKEY SEES YULE SEASON BENEFICIAL

Proximity of the opening tomorrow of the new home of the Dickey Furniture company, 1408-10 North Main street, to Christmas, today prompted L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the firm, to point to "the great yuletide bargains that now may be inspected at our new store."

He declared that "whether it is a great need for the living room, bedroom, library or kitchen or any other room, it can be fulfilled at the new store promptly."

"We have made every effort to meet the demands of the public in stocking the establishment, and we are sure that men, women and children will delight in the many fine styles that will be on hand from the opening date tomorrow."

"There is no finer Christmas present than a new suite for either the living or bedroom, or a nice new-style floor covering for any room. The latter now come in an extraordinary wide variety."

down a principle of "customer satisfaction" for his business more than a quarter of a century ago and the same principle will apply in the new Dickey store.

"A furniture dealer, above all other merchants, must stand squarely behind the merchandise he sells," Dickey said, "if he is to enjoy the return of customers to his store."

CITY HISTORY RECOUNTED IN VIEWING L. A. DICKEY CAREER

For many years connected with the furniture industry of Santa Ana and Orange county, L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the company that bears his name, is one of the county's pioneers in the sale of home furnishings.

Dickey, who today announced the opening of his new furniture mart at 1408-10 North Main street, has watched the growth of his own business parallel that of the city during his many years in Santa Ana.

In 1913 Dickey had gone into the furniture business with his father, Asa Dickey. With America's entrance into the World war he closed out his business and entered in the aviation department.

Following the war he returned to Santa Ana and again went into the furniture business, opening a store on East Fourth street. He continued at that location until 1923 when, in association with Jesse Baggerly, he started the Dickey Baggerly Furniture company at East Fourth and Spurgeon streets.

Several years ago Dickey bought out his partner and the name of the firm was changed to the Dickey Furniture company. The firm continued to do business at this location until Dec. 1, 1938, when the property was sold.

Loss of his lease through the sale of the building that housed his store forced him to seek a new location and after thought and con-

DICKEY PLEASED ON PARKING FACILITIES

"One of the important reasons why we are greatly satisfied with our new location in Santa Ana," L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the Dickey Furniture company, which has its formal opening at 1408-10 North Main street tomorrow, "is because of the ease with which parking spaces may be found in the neighborhood."

Saves Time
"In this respect," Dickey continued, "I recall reading a recent newspaper story to the effect that lack of proper parking facilities costs American motorists $100,000,000 annually in lost time. The figure was based on the estimate of City Traffic Engineer Leslie J. Sorenson of Chicago, which he gave at a meeting of municipal officials in Chicago."

Problem Solved
"Sorenson declared we all must turn our attention to the problem of accommodating vehicles that are standing. We feel we have solved that great problem for patrons of the Dickey Furniture company."

"TASTE ON MARCH"
Better Taste is on the March! That's just one of the slogans today at the L. A. Dickey Furniture company's new home at 1408-10 North Main street, which has its formal opening tomorrow.

MODERNITY IN ALL LINES OF FURNITURE GREATLY REDUCES SHOPPING TASK, SAYS DICKEY

Modern design, upholstered lines and novelties add to the pleasure of shopping at the L. A. Dickey Furniture Company that today announced its formal opening at 1408-10 North Main street tomorrow.

Sophistication, particularly in the Swedish Modern trend, is being stressed by many leading manufacturers and these tastes will be exhibited among the many designs and varieties of furniture at the Dickey company.

Upholstery Fabrics
Provincial styles, in direct opposition to the more sophisticated Swedish Modern, are scheduled for full consideration, Dickey said, as French Provincial, Early American, and Colonial styles are augmented by a new version of the Swedish Provincial styling. Fruitwood, maple, and oak are expected to predominate in the more provincial type of furnishings with gay colored enameled trims, relief carvings, specially designed hardware and rush seats adding a quaint air.

Upholstery fabrics will continue to bridge the gap between modern and traditional pieces, the simpler 18th century frames adding modernized upholstery to give new interest and diversion.

Greatest progress in the new Swedish Modern trend is shown in the lamp field where an entire new interpretation of the vogue is seen.

WHAT YOU'LL FIND

Consumers today are asking for period designs in furniture, according to L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the new furniture home that he will open tomorrow at 1408-10 North Main street. They also like character fabrics and "decorator" shades in the popularly priced items.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE TO THE FOLKS OF ORANGE COUNTY

Permit me the pleasure of giving the advance information concerning our new store which formally opens tomorrow. We are planning on outdoing all previous efforts in value giving, and I give you my personal promise, and I earnestly believe we will show you values in high grade furniture and home furnishings that will surpass anything seen or heard of in Santa Ana or Orange County.

I invite you to avail yourself of such saving chances. Might I say at this time our organization has undergone a revolutionary change to meet and gear into the demands and emergencies of the times. The results, I am confident, will result in a fuller measure of service and cooperation through which you and ourselves will materially benefit at any and all times, now, next month, next year. The stocks and prices in this new store are and always will be completely adjusted to the lowest current price levels. They will submit to the most exhaustive comparisons on the basis of their values in relation to the customer's budget and ability to purchase.

Hence, I can state with assurance and advise our customers. Prices in this new store are now established on a new low level. We want to thank you for your loyal patronage in the many years past and hope we may continue to serve you

SUPPORT URGED IN SEAL SALES

Whole-hearted support of the annual Christmas Seal sale by which the tuberculosis association finances its programs for protection of the home from tuberculosis was strongly urged today by Dr. Margaret D. Baker, an official of the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, Ltd.

Gratifying Response
While reports of early returns indicate a gratifying response to the seal sale as we enter the second campaign week, Dr. Baker said, "I would urgently recommend that the public unite in support of this vital cause, making no generous use of the Christmas seals as possible and paying for them as soon as possible. I know that all would use the seals and contribute unhesitatingly to the program they support if they could understand, as do physicians and public health officials, the value of this program to the community it protects from the inroads of the white plague."

"It has been well said that he gives twice who gives quickly. Early payment for the seals saves time, energy and money and we are sure that the people of Orange County will continue to contribute as promptly and wholeheartedly as they have in the past years."

3374.82 Received
"To date 3374.82 has been received toward our goal of $10,000 which is needed to finance programs of health education, rehabilitation and clinic service. Buy Christmas seals now and use them on every piece of outgoing mail between now and Christmas day."

OHIO VINTNERS UNITE IN DRIVE

CLEVELAND, (UP)—Ohio vintners are starting a campaign to make the country Ohio-wine conscious.

They have formed the Ohio Wine Growers' association, to lead the drive. The association is concerned, too, over the fact that two-thirds of the wine Ohioans sip is made outside the state and will direct their drive toward Buckeyes as well.

Ohio wine producers, whose vineyards total 12,000 acres, comprise the new association. They believe that nowhere in the world can be found grapes comparable with Ohio's Catawbas and Delaware. Both have higher than normal sugar content, making them seldom excelled for wine-making. Ohio long has been one of the best wine-producing and grape-growing states. Before California came into statehood, the father of Nicholas Longworth made wine in Cincinnati.

Have Won Prizes
For years Ohio vintners have won grand-prize awards in France, Germany and other European countries.

The center of Ohio wine-making generally is considered to be Sandusky, midway between Cleveland and Toledo on Lake Erie's south shore.

The association's vintners believe that a great interest in Buckeye vintages may well start at home. They point out that Ohio's large foreign population, which would be assumed to have a particular interest in wine, can lead the way in buying more.

Ohio is the only state having eight cities of more than 100,000 population and has 55 of more than 10,000. Vintners point to this population concentration as an indication of better-than-average purchasing power.

State Stands Sixth
The state now is in sixth place as a wine market. Yet it ranks only 11th in per capita wine consumption, according to vintners. The average Buckeye consumes in a year only 4.78 gallons of wine. This makes them only one-seventh as wine-conscious as Californians. The association is started by the fact that of 2,000,000 gallons of wine consumed by Ohioans last year, fewer than 1,000,000 gallons were fermented in Ohio.

The head of one vintner in Sandusky said that he believed co-operation by vintners and less price-cutting would result in an expanded market for Ohio vintages.

One of the original cues for the organization came from Federal Alcohol Commissioner W. S. Alexander. Alexander told Ohio and other wine-producing states that they should produce more and better table wine and "let the world know about it."

Spooners Gay In Lighting Dispute
SOUTHBORO, Mass. (UP)—The Southboro spooners are happy about the whole thing—namely, a dispute over street lighting costs.

An allegedly unauthorized increase in street light bills raised such costs above the appropriated sum, so the town agreed not to turn on lights for an average of three nights a month—nights when there is moonlight. As a result of the agreement, townsfolk refer to those nights as "spooners' nights."

THREE BIG DAYS FOR YOUTH
CORVALLIS, Mont. (UP)—Edward V. Gordon, local youth, has had three big days in his life. The first was when he was 7 and was run over by a bus without being hurt. The second came a few years later when an automobile pinned him against a fence and he told the driver where to get off by pushing it away. The third came the other day when he tried his luck as a big game hunter and brought down an elk.

Sales and Credit Managers Are Enthusiastic Over New 'Home

Sales Manager

For more than a decade Guy H. Grigg, pictured above, has been one of the guiding stars of the Dickey Furniture company. Grigg came to Santa Ana in 1927 from Carthage, Mo., where he was buyer and manager for the Carthage Furniture and Carpet company. His experience in the furniture business dates back to 1906.

Dickey Gives Line On Steady Trend

Speaking of trends in furniture, Swedish Modern is expected to continue to dominate the style news as manufacturers of case goods, upholstered lines and novelties add new samples to their lines. This was the statement today of L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the new furniture home that will formally open to the public tomorrow at 1408-10 North Main street.

Zip And Rhythm In S. A. Furniture

It's furniture with a new zip, a new rhythm and a new vitality that counts. That's the motto today at the L. A. Dickey Furniture company, which formally opens its big and luxurious new home tomorrow at 1408-10 North Main street.

"We've known for a long time," explained Dickey this morning, "that the West now is returning its loan to the East of the type of furniture that beautifies the home. It used to be that the West borrowed its furniture styles from the East. Now all that is changed, and the Easterners today are looking especially in Southern California for the furniture styles that have the new kind of beauty."

Two of the most enthusiastic executives of the L. A. Dickey Furniture company, which tomorrow will dedicate its new home at 1408-10 North Main street, are Guy H. Grigg, sales and advertising manager, and Miss Ellen Selover, bookkeeper and credit manager.

Both these ace assistants to L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the concern, have been with the establishment for 10 years and are recognized as experts in their respective departments.

Join Firm in 1927

Mr. Grigg joined the Dickey Furniture company in 1927, coming to Santa Ana in that year from Carthage, Mo., and Miss Selover joined the firm the same year after having come from Long Beach and finishing her business course in Santa Ana.

"Miss Selover is extremely efficient in her work," said Dickey, "and has handled the credit business of the firm with great success." She is described by her many fellow-workmen and friends as being of the good-natured type, with plenty of smiles and personality.

Capable Saleswoman

Records show that due to her capability in handling the credit business, there have been but few repossessions. Not only has she been expert in bookkeeping and accounting, but has proved highly capable on the sales floor in times of emergency. She is a graduate of the Long Beach high school, and since coming to Santa Ana has made hundreds of friends and acquaintances.

Grigg has a rich background of experience, having started his career in Carthage in 1906. Just before he came to Santa Ana, he was buyer and manager for the Carthage Furniture and Carpet Co. He has a host of friends in the East and middlewest who will be elated to hear of his success and of the new venture of the Dickey Furniture company in its new location.

Knows Eastern Markets

Grigg is recognized as a capable buyer throughout the East, having bought goods in all the Eastern markets for many years.

Both Grigg and Miss Selover are firm believers that the new store will prove to be the most convenient place in Santa Ana and Orange county for shoppers, and each today joined in issuance of hearty invitations to their many friends to see them tomorrow on the opening day, and to continue their calls at all times thereafter.

Magic In Mirrors Dickey Reveals

"Mirrors work magic in homes, and new designs enhance rooms." This was one of the observations today of L. A. Dickey on the eve of the opening of his new furniture company home tomorrow at 1408-10 North Main street.

"It is not enough," he said, "to say that a home is incomplete without mirrors; the fact is that no home exists without them."

Credit Manager

Behind the scenes of the activity of the Dickey Furniture company is Miss Ellen Selover, above, who came to the concern in 1927. Her first duties were that of a bookkeeper. A few years later she was promoted to credit manager for the concern and since that time has been responsible for the statistical and financial part of the company.

POPULAR FURNITURE

Growing popularity for darker tones, with the natural wood shades, metallic blues, and yellow and bronze-greens called for in the "class" fields, is found in Santa Ana and Orange county. This was the statement today of L. A. Dickey, owner and manager of the new L. A. Dickey Furniture company home at 1408-10 North Main street.
